Cooking Competition

Friday, 12th May

We want your ideas for healthy drinks and food for the new school restaurant!

The pupil who makes the best healthy meal or drink will win free lunches in the school restaurant all week!

Mr Gaston, our school cook, will decide who is the winner.

1. What kind of competition is it?
2. What do pupils have to do?
3. What will the winner get?

2. Listen and write the words in the gaps.

4.2

Pupil	What did they make?	Taste	Appearance	How Mr Gaston describes it	Score

5. Read about May's day. Complete the sentences on page 37. Use the words in the boxes.

I am so lucky! I won the school cooking competition. I won free lunches in the school restaurant all week! Mr Gaston, the cook, invited me to the restaurant kitchen to watch his team working in the kitchen. He's nice! I think he looks like my Uncle Fred. They've both got red hair.

When I arrived in the kitchen, Mr Gaston gave me a cook's uniform. The hat was very thin and it felt like paper. It fell off my head about 20 times! Mr Gaston showed me how to make different kinds of burgers. The best one we made was a vegetable burger. It was made with beans and onions, but it tasted like meat. It was delicious. I also watched the cook make some soup. It smelt like fish. I thought it tasted horrible, but everyone else liked it.

It was really noisy in the kitchen. It sounded like a busy railway station. I couldn't have a conversation with Mr Gaston. Every time I asked him a question, I had to repeat it. Mr Gaston works with a woman called Mrs White. She was very friendly and funny, and she whistled songs all the time. She sounded like a bird! She gave me some sweets.

After cooking the meals, we had to wash up and make the kitchen tidy. Mr Gaston said, 'Cooks have to do boring jobs, too!' He sounded like my mum! Actually, he didn't wash up that day. He started cooking for the next day's lunch and everyone else washed up.

I want to be a cook when I grow up. I don't enjoy washing up but I love making nice food.

It's our world!

1. Look at the photos. What can you see? Do you know the name of this festival?

2. Read and circle Yes or No.

4.10 Hello. My name's Mei Ling and I live in Hong Kong. Tonight is an important festival here. We are celebrating the Mid-Autumn Festival. It's a special night when we are happy because the farmers have had a good harvest. It's also called the Mooncake Festival because we buy mooncakes for our families. Mooncakes come in lots of different flavours, but they are all round like the full moon and they look beautiful. We eat them with Chinese black tea after dinner. My favourite mooncakes have chocolate inside, but my grandma prefers the ones with red bean paste and a salted egg in the middle.

We also eat lots of round fruits like watermelons and pomelos on this night. The round shape makes us think of the full moon and of all the family being together.

1. The Mid-Autumn Festival is celebrated during the day. Yes / (No)
2. People celebrate the festival because farmers have had a good year. Yes / No
3. Another name for the Mid-Autumn Festival is the Harvest Festival. Yes / No
4. For this festival, people buy special drinks for their families. Yes / No
5. Mei Ling's favourite mooncakes have chocolate inside. Yes / No
6. On the night of the festival, the round shape of the food makes people think of their families being together. Yes / No

3. Read the text. Answer the questions.

Mid-Autumn lanterns in Victoria Park, Hong Kong

411 Lots of countries all over the world have harvest celebrations. Many of these festivals are very old. In the past, people couldn't get food from other places easily and had to eat the food that they grew in their own area. So a good harvest was very important.

Today, people still enjoy these celebrations. In Hong Kong, we like to spend time with our family and friends on the night of the Mid-Autumn Festival. We have a lot of fun together. We all take coloured lanterns and go out to see the parade in Victoria Park. The park feels quite strange because it looks very different in the dark and it's very noisy on this night. Some people sing, dance and do acrobatics in the parade. You can smell sweet perfumes and lots of different kinds of food. The Mooncake Festival is my favourite night of the year.

1. Why was a good harvest very important in the past?
2. Where in Hong Kong does Mei Ling go to see the parade?
3. What does Mei Ling take with her to the parade?
4. What is strange about the park at night?
5. Which two things does Mei Ling say you can smell in the park?

4. Talk to a friend. Then tell the class.

1. Do you have a harvest festival in your country? What do people do on this day?
2. Do you know about harvest festivals in other countries? Describe them.
3. Which festivals are important for you? How do you celebrate them? Describe what you can see, smell, taste, hear and feel at these festivals.
4. What do you think is good about festivals?

Every week, children write about their favourite people for our Kids' Club internet magazine. This week, Molly writes about her neighbour.

My neighbour

Mrs Murdock is my neighbour. She is amazing! She has lived at 24, Rainbow Street, the house next to mine, for many years. She moved into the house with her mum, dad and five sisters when she was a young girl. The house had electricity but no telephone, and the toilet was in a small building in the garden! They didn't have a toilet in their house until Mrs Murdock was seven. And then it was a long time before they got a telephone. Mrs Murdock was 20 when that happened!

Last year she bought a new mobile phone. She needs it for her work because she is a businesswoman. She makes hats and scarves from wool and sells them in the market. She became a businesswoman 15 years ago, after she finished teaching. She hates having nothing to do! One of her granddaughters, who's a helicopter pilot, lives in Rainbow Street, too.

1. Mrs Murdock has lived in her house since she was a young girl. ✓
2. She hasn't had electricity in the house since she moved into it.
3. She has had a toilet in the house for only seven years.
4. She has had a telephone in the house since she was 20.

5.9 Hello! I'm Juan José, and I'm 12 years old. I live in Bogotá, in Colombia. In Bogotá, most people live in flats and my family's flat is on the third floor. Our building is in a big square.

Three years ago, our square was quite untidy, as people left rubbish here. It also wasn't a safe place for us to play in because sometimes there was broken glass on the ground.

Some of our neighbours wanted to build a community garden in our square. So all of us got together and talked about what we wanted to have in this garden. Then we all worked together. First, we picked up the rubbish and put it in bins. Next, we planted flowers and trees in the square to make a garden. Today, our square looks amazing! We also got to know all our neighbours better, and now everyone has more friends!

3. Read the text. Answer the questions.

Community gardens are a great way to make our towns and cities look more beautiful, but that's not the only reason why they are important. These gardens are places where we can meet our neighbours and be a part of the community. Some of the older people in my square live on their own. In the past, many of them were lonely. But now they work with other neighbours to look after the garden, and they always have something to do and someone to talk to.

In our garden, there's a hoop where my friends and I can practise basketball. There are also some swings for the younger children. There are tables and chairs under the trees, where people can chat with their friends. Parents often use the garden to teach their children how to grow plants. I think our garden is the best in Bogotá!

1. Why are community gardens good for cities and towns?
2. How does Juan José's community garden help the people who live on their own?
3. Which game can Juan José practise in the community garden?
4. What does the community garden have for young children?

4. Talk to a friend. Then tell the class.

1. How often do the people in your community meet? Are there any special days when this happens? What happens on these days?
2. Do you think a community garden is a good idea? Why?

It's our world!

1. Look at the photos. What are these people doing? Why are they doing these things?

2. Read the text. Underline all the things that Ceri and her friends have done or do to help people.

6.10 Hi! I'm Ceri. I live in Cardiff, in Wales. That's part of the UK. I'm on the Sunshine Community Council at my school. We find out about how we can help the people in our community and improve our area. We also ask our friends to join in and help us.

We have done lots of interesting things in our town. We have planted flowers outside our local hospital to cheer up the patients. We have tidied up the rubbish in our local park and painted the walls of the school playground. Sometimes we go shopping for neighbours who are old or ill. We make recordings of the reports in the local newspaper for people who have problems seeing. Sometimes we also try to raise money for charities.

3. Read the text again. How do Ceri and her friends help:

1. people who can't see well? They make recordings of reports in the local newspaper for people who have problems seeing.
2. old people? _____
3. people who are in hospital? _____
4. charities? _____

4. Look at the photo and say what you think is happening in it. Then read and check your answer.

6.11 The Sunshine Community Council meets every Wednesday. All students on the council make suggestions for projects to do, and then work together to choose the best ideas. Our teachers give us advice and help us to find the information we need.

Every week, a different person leads the Wednesday meeting. This person has to make sure that everyone has the chance to talk about his or her ideas. Each person has to give good reasons for what he or she wants to do, and the others have to listen. Sometimes it is difficult to decide which projects we should do, because we have a lot of good ideas but we can't do everything. We have to decide which projects are the most important. We try to make the best decisions for the group and for our community. I think that being on the council helps us to learn to work together.

5. Read again and answer the questions.

1. How often does the Sunshine Community Council meet?
2. Who helps the students on the council to find information?
3. Who leads the council meetings?
4. Why is it difficult to decide which projects are the most important?
5. What does Ceri say she learns from being on the council?

6. Talk to a friend. Then tell the class.

1. Would you like to join a school community council? Why?
2. What changes would you like to see in the place where you live?
3. What could you do to improve the place where you live? Who are the grown-ups whose help you might need to do this?
