1A Welcome — Lessons 1–3

1. a) Look at the picture. Where are the teenagers? What are they doing?

1. b) Listen to the dialogue to check your ideas.

Aigul: Hello. My names's Aigul.
Tom: Hi, I'm Tom. Nice to meet you.
Aigul: Nice to meet you too.
Tom: Are you a new student?
Aigul: Yes, I am. Is anyone sitting here?
Tom: No. You can sit next to me.
Aigul: Thanks.
Tom: Why did you change schools?
Aigul: I heard that we'll use English in all our classes at this school. I'd like to improve my English so that I can study abroad. What's more, students from different countries study here. It will be interesting to make friends with them.
Tom: Yes, you're right. In our class, there are 14 students from 10 different countries: America, Canada, Turkey, China, India, Great Britain, Russia, Spain, France, and Japan.
Aigul: Wow. I'm excited to get to know all of them…

1. c) Listen to the dialogue again. Then practise the dialogue with your partner.

1. d) What else do you think Tom and Aigul talked about?

2. a) Look at the pictures of Tom's classmates on his web page. What do you think he writes on his web page?

2. b) Read the text and check your answers.

Welcome to my page.

Hi, my name is Tom, and I'm from America. This is a picture of my classmates at an international school in Bishkek, where I'm currently living because of my parents' jobs. I've been to numerous countries, but Kyrgyzstan is one of my favorites because it is stunning; its landscapes are among the most beautiful in the world.

Living in a foreign country is cool, especially when you've got so many loyal friends and classmates. What makes us feel close to each other is our diversity. We all come from different countries and different families, and yet we get along with each other very well. What's more, we've got great passions such as painting, swimming and cycling. When we get together, we enjoy each other's company. And all these differences make us interesting, unusual, and unique.

This is my classmate Raj, whose parents are from the city of Agra in India. He's longing to become a computer programmer. His hunger for knowledge and determination to be good at computer programming has contributed to his most recent success in the competition "International Olympiad in Computer Programming". He took the first place out of participants from 15 countries. He got a trophy for winning the competition. Raj believes determination is key to success. Raj was firm to reach his goal to participate in the competition by working hard every day. He's an excellent example for us to follow.

This is my new classmate Aigul from Kyrgyzstan. When she sings, her amazing voice, accompanied by the komuz (a national musical instrument), makes my skin crawl. It was her grandfather who taught her to play the komuz. Since then, she has sung Kyrgyz folk songs and learned to play kuus (a music genre that often expresses the dramatic and lyrical moments of Kyrgyz culture). Moreover, Aigul knows a lot of legends about her country. In our History class, she tells us interesting legends and facts about her country.

3. Read the text again. Are the sentences True or False?

1) Tom is studying in America at the moment. False. Tom is living and studying at an international school in Bishkek.
2) Tom has visited a lot of countries.
3) Tom and his friends are not different from each other.
4) Raj is good at computer programming because of his strict parents.
5) Raj continues doing something although it is very difficult.
6) Aigul's voice is marvelous.
7) Aigul's grandfather is teaching her to play the komuz.

4. Match the words in the box with their definitions.

h) We do experiments in IT.

4. Which of the subjects from exercise 1 a do you study? Do you study any others?

5. a) Read the text about different schools around the world and answer the questions below.

In which country / countries...

1) do children usually have lunch at home?
2) do children start going to school the earliest in age?
3) do new students come to classes throughout the first year?
4) do children have the strictest rules about uniform?
5) do children start their school year without paying attention to the day of the week?
6) do children get presents on the first school day?
7) do children start the school year in winter?
8) it is not necessary to be able to write when you start your school?

As you know, I have a lot of students in my class who come from different countries. Today we had a very interesting lesson about schools. I was so surprised to find so many differences. The date school starts, the age at which the kids start going to school, grading system, and school subjects – the variation is huge!

Fascinated by all the differences, I decided to tell you some fun facts about schools around the world. Enjoy!

My friend from Germany told us that children don't need to know how to write their names on entering schools, but they must know how to hold a pen correctly. On their first school day, they get a school cone. It can be filled with sweets, snacks, lunch boxes, little books and small gifts. Children can only open it at school. I think it's great!

In Russia children always start school on September 1st, even if it's a holiday, or the weekend. This is both the first day of autumn and the first day of school. It is known as Knowledge Day. Most kids bring a change of shoes to school. Elementary school through high school are usually in the same building.

Dutch children go to school on their fourth birthday! During the first year new kids come to classes throughout the year. I think it makes a lot of problems for their teachers! The kids get to play and learn social skills and only start "real school" when they're six.

Schools in Nigeria start in January and end in December. The school year is divided into trimesters with two months off between each one. Nigerian schools are very strict about dress code, including hair styles, jewellery and accessories.

In Brazil, schools run from 7 a.m. to midday. So, the kids can eat lunch with their parents.

Parents of kids in Swiss schools have to pick them up for lunch. The children get a lunch break between 12 and 2 p.m. and that's when they get home to have lunch. If they have working mothers, a special Mittagstisch (lunch table) is set for them.

5. b) Compare the schools in different countries with your school. How many differences and / or similarities can you find? What from rules from the text above would you like to have in your school? Discuss with your partner. Use the phrases from the Useful language box during your conversation.

Useful language
How to give your opinion: To me, ... Personally, I think... In my opinion, ... I don't think (that) ... I think (that) ...	In a conversation, react to what the other person says using phrases such as: Really? That's interesting! Me too! Do you?

10. a) Study the box below and do the exercises.

In English we have a lot of different phrases that can help us say how much we like or don't like something. These phrases make our language richer and more natural.

Put the phrases into the correct place in the table.

He's brilliant. It's awful. I don't mind it. It's not bad. I love it. I hate it. I can't stand her. She's all right. It's great. I really like her. He's terrible. It's OK. I like it. I don't like him.

Good	Quite good	Bad
He's brilliant.	It's not bad.	It's awful.

10. b) Listen, check and repeat.

11. a) Write any five nouns. You can use singular or plural common nouns and names.

Example: Watching TV, Mirbek Atabekov, horses, computers, fashion

11. b) Ask your classmate about your nouns. Use a subject pronoun or an object pronoun in your answer. Don't forget to use the phrases from exercise 10.

Do you like watching TV?

Yes, I really like it. I turn it on right after I come home.

What do you think of Mirbek Atabekov?

He's great. I like the way he sings.

12. Race to the Finish

- Play in small groups. You will need a coin (only to start the game) and a counter for each player.
- Put your counters onto the start.
- Player 1 tosses a coin. If you have a HEAD, move two steps. If you have a TAIL, move one step.
- For example, Player 1has a TAIL and goes to square 1. Player 1 must choose the correct form of the pronouns. If your team likes your answer, you stay on your place. If you made a mistake, YOU LOSE YOUR TURN.
- Who is the winner? The one who knows PRONOUNS MYSTERY and gets to the finish first!
- If you choose a subject pronoun, you move one space.
- If you choose an object pronoun, you move two spaces.

(1) American Elementary School

At the age of five, U.S. children begin elementary school. At elementary school they learn the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic, as well as history, geography, crafts, music, and physical education. They attend elementary school for five years and then go to middle school.

(2) _____

Students start middle school at the age of 11. Middle school is 3 years – 6th, 7th, and 8th grade. Some students go to Junior High School which is also three years – 7th, 8th and 9th grade. They've got both compulsory and elective classes. Compulsory subjects are maths, English, social science (a subject that combines history, government and geography) and natural science (i.e. chemistry, biology, anatomy and physiology, physics). Students can also choose some elective subjects that they like such as foreign languages, band, home economics, chorus and art.

After middle school or junior high, the students go to high school. The last grade of high school is 12th grade. If students go to middle school, high school is 4 years (9th, 10th, 11th and 12th). If students go to junior high, high school is three years (10th, 11th and 12th). Compulsory courses may include English, mathematics, foreign language, physical education, art, music, natural sciences, and social studies. However, students can still choose the level of their classes and elective subjects with the help of their parents and a school guidance counselor. Students receive a diploma after they graduate from high school. Then American students may go to college or university.

(3) _____

In the USA, there are both public schools and private schools. Public schools provide free education for students. About 85–90% of students in the US attend public schools. About 10% of students in the US attend private schools.

3. c) Read the text again. Match the paragraphs with three of the headings. There are two extra headings that you don't need.

2) Students can choose all their subjects.
3) Students don't have to go to high school.
4) After high school students can study at a college or a university.
5) Most students go to public schools.

Project work: Lapbook

You are going to create your own lapbook! But what is it? It's a collection of mini-books about interesting topics. This collection is so big that you can read it only if you put it on your laps! Look at the examples below.

Do you like them? They are really nice, but I think your lapbook will be even better! What is your lapbook going to be about?

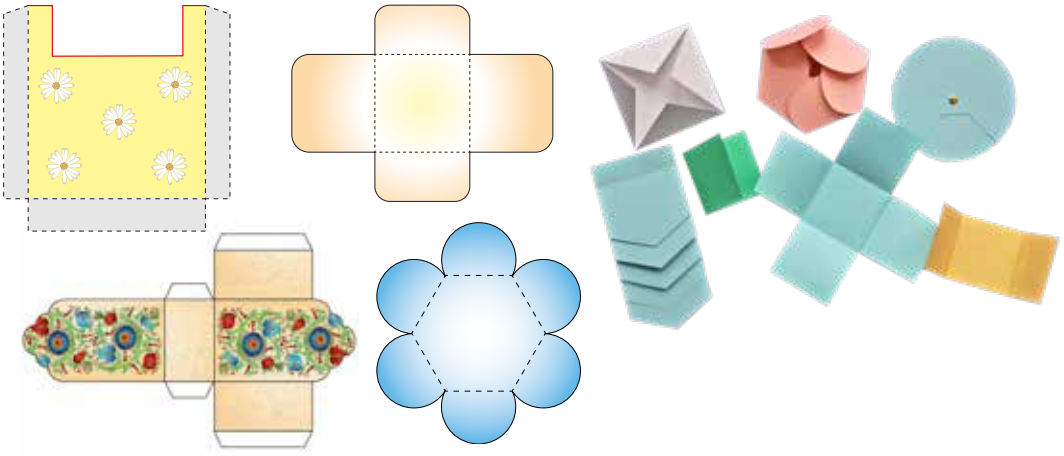
Education!

You can write about education in Kyrgyzstan or about education in any other country. Or maybe you want to write about education 100 years ago? Choose the topic and LET'S GO! What do you need?

- 1 file folder
- white or coloured paper
- glue stick
- stapler
- scotch
- scissors
- coloured pencils or crayons
- your imagination!

How to do it? It's easy! Just follow the steps below:

1) Take a piece of paper and draw a plan, for example:
You need to think about the design of the elements.
Look at the examples below:



2) Cut out the details and glue them on the file folder.

3. Write down the information.

4. Organize the gallery to see what your classmates made!

   c) An artist.

3) Why was the round pencil invented?
   a) To help writers.
   b) To help carpenters.
   c) To help artists.

3. b) Read the text about the school objects and check your answers.

The History of School Objects

Nowadays it is very difficult to imagine a student who hasn't got any stationery* in their school bags. But who invented them and when? Let's try to answer these questions together.

Let's start with the ruler, I'm sure you've got it. It is believed that the first ruler that we use almost every day was invented by ancient civilizations, such as the Greeks and Egyptians about 1500 BC. The first rulers were made of wood or ivory. They were about the length of a man's foot and the width of a man's thumb. The rulers we use today are often made from plastic or metal. They are very comfortable to use if you need to measure objects that are not completely straight.

And do you have pencils in your pencil case? The history of the modern pencil is also very surprising. People tried to make pencils many years ago, but the result was not very good – the pencils were very easy to break and not comfortable to use. In 1795, Nicolas-Jacques Conte invented the first quality pencil on earth. You may think that the first person who invented the pencil was a writer, but it's not true. The first pencil maker was a soldier! NJ Conte created several different kinds of pencils. He made round pencils for

* stationery – materials for writing, e.g. paper, pens and envelopes.
 ivory – long teeth of elephants and some other animals.

artists to make their work comfortable. He made square pencils for carpenters* so that the pencils wouldn't roll away.

2D Are you successful in language learning?

Lesson 18–19

1. Choose one or two quotations you like and discuss them with your partner.

1) “One language sets you in a corridor for life. Two languages open every door along the way.”

Frank Smith

2) “Language is the road map of a culture. It tells you where its people come from and where they are going.”

Rita Mae Brown

3) “With languages, you can move from one social situation to another. With languages, you are at home anywhere.”

Edmund De Waal

4) “Speak a new language so that the world will be a new world.”

Rumi

2. Work in pairs. Answer the questions.

1) Why are you learning English?
2) What techniques do you use to learn it better?

3. Read what teenagers write about learning English and find out:

1) Why are they learning English?
2) What techniques do they use to learn English?

1. Akzyinat

I’m so motivated to learn English. I’m going to apply for an exchange program to study abroad. Therefore, I practise a lot by myself. I consult with grammar reference books, listen to tapes and read books in English.

2. Daniel

If I learn English, I’ll have such a good opportunity. In the future I can get a well-paid job in an international company. I know I make a lot of mistakes but it doesn’t stop me to learn English. I learn from my mistakes and I take risks. I try to speak a lot to foreigners wherever it’s possible, to my classmates in my English classes and to my friends in an English club. I want to make my speech fluent.

3. Meerim

I want to travel abroad. I'd like to learn about different countries and their cultures. I don't set unachievable goals, for example, learn 50 words a day or read an English book in 3 days. Instead I learn about 10 words from the book I'm reading. I'm so realistic in setting of my study goals. I always write my plans what I should do next day. It really helps me to achieve my ultimate goal. I practise constantly every day. Practice makes perfect. The more I practice, the more fluent I will become in English.

4. Bektur

I'm planning to be such a professional computer programmer. I can find more information connected with this field in English. It's impossible to learn all English words. If I don't understand some words, I try to guess them from the context. Every day I revise everything I have learned. I learn better when I see textbooks with pictures, posters and diagrams. Also I tube videos and films.

4. Read the texts again. Complete the gaps with the names.

a) Daniel takes every opportunity to improve his speaking skill.
b) _____ thinks she can make her English fluent by practising a lot.
c) _____ uses his guessing skill.
d) _____ learns English without anybody's help.
e) _____ is realistic in setting goals.
f) _____ is not afraid of making mistakes.
g) _____ wants to get education abroad.
h) _____ is learning English to read English books connected with the field of his interest.
i) _____ would like to work for an international company.

5. a) Work in groups of 4 or 5 people. Think about the techniques you use and the techniques Meerim, Daniel, Akzyinat and Bektur use in learning English in exercise 3. Write a list of tips for a successful language learner on the poster.

Example: 1) Practise English constantly every day.
2) Guess the meanings of new words when you're reading a book or speaking to someone.

5. b) Put your poster on the wall.

Grammar

Unit 3

3A My family — Lessons 22–24

1. Discuss the following questions with your classmates.

a) What is the best environment to raise a family in (e. g. city, village, house, apartment, etc.)?
b) Is there anything funny or different about your family?
c) Does someone in your family maintain a family tree? How far back can you trace your family history?
d) Who is your oldest relative? Who is your youngest relative?
e) Which side of the family is bigger: your father's side or your mother's side?

2. a) Look at the title of the magazine article. Does the title tell you what the reading will be about? What does the word "value" in the title suggest about the text?

2. b) Read the text and compare your ideas.

Family values

Family plays a significant role in people's life. Being part of a good family is one of the greatest gifts people get in life. In fact, a family can be compared to a tree. People have got many relatives such as their parents, their siblings, their wife or husband, their children, and other relatives. Family members share many things, for example, physical characteristics, interests, and living quarters. Moreover, family members share responsibilities within the family. They can take turns to do the washing up, cook or do other domestic chores. Living in unity with other family members and having the same values make a family close. Family values include the qualities that are most important to you as a family such as honesty, patience, freedom, etc. Different families share different values because every family has its own moral and ethical principles. What is the most important value in your family?

3. Answer the questions.

a) Why does the author compare a family to a tree?
b) The author states that family members share all the things and responsibilities within the family. What about your family?
c) Why do you think a family plays an important role in our life?
d) What family values do you have in your family?

4. Read the replies of three teenagers. Are your values the same as these teenagers' values?

Daniel

Respect is an important value in my family. My parents have taught me to respect every member of our family, their interests, and their opinion. Regardless of their age, I have a respect for everybody. I've been learning a lot from my dear grandparents who are keen on passing their knowledge and experience to me and my siblings. Even my little brother, who is just four years old, gives me an example of being happy because seeing him always smiling encourages me to be positive about life. Watching him overcome the obstacles on his way and get his favourite toy from the top of the closet gives me an idea of being determined in achieving your goals. Respecting both my grandparents and my little brother's points of view gets me to learn something from them. Having respect for other people allows me to be more open-minded and to accept different ideas. I always listen to what my family members say to me, but it doesn't mean that I always agree with them. I respect their opinion and they respect mine.

Emir

Trust is our family value, which my parents have taught me since birth. I can rely on my family members, especially when I have problems in school or my relationship with my friends. Once I told my father that writing an essay was difficult for me and he taught me how to produce a nice essay. Trusting my father helped me a lot improve my writing skill. My family gives me support and advice, which I use to solve my problems. I trust my family to help me in any situation. By the same token, both my parents and brothers count on me and expect me to help them. I cannot imagine my life without my family's trust.

Sultankhan

In my family, honesty is our most important value. My parents have taught me to be honest. Telling lies can badly affect a person's reputation. Once a person tells a lie, people stop believing him or her. My mother told me a story about a shepherd boy who lied to his villagers; he told them that a wolf had come to eat their sheep, which wasn't true. When a wolf really did come and was eating their sheep, none of villagers came because they didn't believe the boy. Thus, no one wants to have a relationship with a dishonest person. In my family I am always honest and confess to doing something wrong. I believe that strong family is built on honesty.

5. Are the statements True or False? Correct false statements.

a) Daniel learns a lot both from his grandparents and his little brother. True.
b) Daniel always agrees with everybody's opinion.
c) Emir counts on his family members.
d) Emir's family members don't want him to help them.
e) According to Sultankhan, dishonesty can spoil one's reputation.
f) The moral of the story about a shepherd boy is that no one can believe a person who always tells lies to them.

6. Match the words with their meanings.

to affect	to trust	to rely on	to avoid values	open-minded	~~sibling~~	to respect

1) A brother or sister – sibling
2) Willing to listen to, think about or accept different ideas
3) To need or depend on somebody / something

to affect	to trust	to rely on	to avoid family values	open-minded	sibling	to respect responsibility	patience	domestic chores dishonesty	to have a respect for somebody

1. a) Explain this statement. Do you agree or disagree with it?

To have good friends, you must be a good friend.

1. b) Think of your best friend. Why is that person your best friend? What do you like about your best friend? Tell your partner.

My best friend is Dinara. When I'm sad, she's always ready to listen to my problems. I feel that I'm not alone.

1. c) Work in pairs. Make a list of the qualities of a good friend. For example:

- Good friends listen to each other.
- Good friends help each other when they've got problems.
- Good friends respect each other.

2. a) Read the text. Which qualities of a good friend you mentioned in exercise 1c are in the text?

Example: Sabyr – Good friends respect each other.

Shirin

My best friend, Dilbar, lives next door to me. What's more, we're in the same class at the same school! We spend most of our free time together and that is why we know a lot about each other. We had our ups and downs, but we could solve all our problems together. I can share all my secrets with her because I'm sure that she is very reliable and trustworthy. I know she'll always be there for me.

Boris

I've got lots of friends, but only one of them I can call "my best friend". His name's Timur. He's the same age as I am. Our hobbies are playing chess and swimming, and we're also interested in the same music. Our favourite singer is Eminem. We both think that he's a cool dude! We love the same subject at school. That's Geography. Why is Timur my best friend? I think we've got a lot in common.

My best friend is Sarah. We get on well together. What I like about her? She's the best adviser I've ever known. She is always ready to give me a hand. For example, I don't often know what to wear for parties. So, Sarah is always there to help me choose the right clothes. I also give her advice when she needs it. I think, we know each other better than our parents know us. It's very important to have someone to give you advice.

Alice

My best friend's name is Rustam. I think I'm very different from my best friend. I'm short and thin but Rustam is tall and well-built. He plays basketball and does karate. As for me, I don't like sports at all. I love watching films instead. I know about almost all the actors, their lives, and their films, but Rustam can't even remember the names of the films he has seen! Why are we friends? Just because we respect each other and each other's interests. When we get together it's always fun to talk about different things.

Sabyr

2. b) Read the text again. Complete the gaps with the names.

Example: a) Shirin and Dilbar are neighbours.

3C Spending time with family or friends

Lessons 27–29

1. a) Match the photos to verb phrases in the box.

go for a walk	listen to music	watch TV play computer games	go to the cinema	read books
meet friends	play the guitar

1. b) Listen, check, and repeat the phrases.

1. c) Test your partner. Say the verb and your classmate calls the whole phrase and show the picture.

Watch

2. a) Discuss with your classmate. Who do 12-year old teenagers spend more time: their friends or their family?

2. b) Read the text and check your answer.

It's interesting to know who 12-year old teenagers spend more time, with their family or their friends. A journalist interviewed some teenagers. Do you want to know the result?

Nurzada

I can't say that I spend more time with my family. I'd rather say that I spend more time at home, being alone. I like reading books alone at home. I like reading books when it's quiet and when nobody disturbs you. Most of my friends spend their free time playing computer games but it's different for me. I don't play any computer games and hardly ever surf the internet. I think playing computer games is for lazy teenagers. Sometimes on the weekends I go for a walk with my friends. We stroll in the park or go to the cinema.

Bob

I think I spend more time with my friends than with my family. My parents very often work long hours and I have to be at home alone. I hate being alone – it's too boring. When my parents are at work, I often invite my friends over and we play computer games. Our favourite game is Minecraft. About two months ago, I started learning to play the guitar and my friends became my audience. They say that I'm making some progress and I want to believe them!

Burul

I like going to the cinema to see new films and cartoons. My mother says that I'm a cinemaddict. My favourite actor is Orlando Bloom. I have seen all the films in which he was starring and I have some really nice posters of him in my room. I go to the cinema with my friends or my family. Every evening after dinner I go for a walk with my family because my friends live far away from me. And I watch TV with my family at weekends. On weekdays I go to school, do my homework, and help my parents.

2. c) Read the text again. Who says these sentences?

a) I like reading short stories. → Nurzada likes reading short stories.
b) I watch TV at weekends.
c) I play computer games with my friends.
d) I don't play computer games.
e) I go for a walk with my family.

2. d) Discuss the questions with your partner.

1) Write a list of five activities you enjoy doing with your family and a list of five activities you enjoy doing with your friends. Then discuss: How different are the two lists? Why do you think this is?
2) Who do you spend more time with, your family or your friends?

3. Look at the questions of an interviewer with Burul. Put the interviewer's questions in the correct places.

Example: (1) Do you go to the cinema?

a) Do you go for a walk with your friends?
b) Do you watch TV?
c) Do you go to the cinema?

Interviewer: (1) _____.
Burul: Yes, I do. I like going to the cinema to see new films and cartoons. I go to the cinema with my friends or my family.
Interviewer: (2) _____.
Burul: No, I don't. Every evening after dinner I go for a walk with my family because my friends live far away from me.
Interviewer: (3) _____.
Burul: Yes, I do. I watch TV with my family at weekends. On weekdays I go to school, do my homework, and help my parents.

5. "Spending Time"

- Take 4 small pieces of paper and write your name on each piece.
- Work in groups of 4. Collect all pieces of paper in your group and mix them.
- Put all the cards with names face down in a pile in the center of a desk.
- You need a dice and a counter. Player 1 rolls a dice and goes along the board as many steps as the dice shows, for example, number 3.
- Player 1 takes one card with the names from the pile and makes up a sentence about the person whose name is there. For example, Nursultan doesn't sweep the floor on Fridays. OR Nursultan never sweeps the floor. OR Nursultan doesn't sweep the floor in his sister's house., etc.
- If Nursultan says that information is true about him and grammar is correct, Player 1 can stay on his place. If the information is not true or grammar is not correct, Player 1 goes back to the place where he / she was before.
- Now Player 2 rolls the dice.

- REMEMBER! You must go back if: 1) information is not correct.
  2) you make a grammar mistake.
- The winner is the Player who first gets to the FINISH.

Do you like playing chess?

No, I don't – I hate it!

It's OK. I don't mind it.

Yes, I love it!

don't mind	hate	playing chess sleeping	playing computer games	spiders doing homework	doing the housework	going to the gym flying	watching TV	taking photos
sweeping	playing chess

1. a) Read about different types of behavior in different countries. Is there any new information for you? Tell your partner.

I study at the International School now. In my class there are a lot of students from different countries. Now I know a lot of things about how people in different countries live.

When people visit a foreign country, they don't often think about what they can and what they can't do there. But it's very important, because differences in culture very often can become the reason for problems if you don't know about them.

For example, people in many countries often give flowers as a present for different events, like birthday, dating, weddings and many others. But be careful! Some flowers are not a good present. In Russia and Kyrgyzstan, carnations are the symbol of Victory Day. In Germany and Italy people never present carnations, because they are the symbol of death there.

Tourists in Germany sometimes make another mistake when they use a knife for eating boiled potatoes. Germans think that you don't like their cooking and think that potatoes are not well-cooked.

Spitting is usually a bad habit in most countries. But in African tribe Maasi people always spit on their hands before they shake hands with other people. They often spit on children because they wish them health and good luck!

In many countries showing tongue is not very polite and people hardly ever do it in public places. In India people usually show their tongue when they are angry. People are so different!

1. b) Do you know any other interesting traditions? Tell your classmates.

2. Look at the highlighted words in the text. Answer the questions.

a) What question do all these words and phrases answer? What do we call them?
b) What grammar tense do we use these words and phrases with?
c) Put the highlighted words from the text onto the diagram.

0% → 10% → 20% → 30% → 70% → 90% → 100% never always

d) Choose the correct position A, B or C for the highlighted phrases.

1) I A listen B to music C
2) He A is B late for classes C

3. Put the adverb of frequency in the correct place in the sentence.

Example: In Thailand people touch other people's head. (never)
In Thailand people never touch other people's head.

1) In Japan people take off their shoes before they enter the house. (always)
2) In Arabic countries people eat when they are standing or walking. (never)
3) People give yellow flowers in Bulgaria. (never)
4) Russians touch other people's clothes and ask where people got them. (often)
5) Swiss watches cost a lot of money. (sometimes)
6) People in Germany give flowers wrapped in paper. (hardly ever)
7) In China watches are bad presents. (usually)

4. a) Choose the adverbs from the box to make the true sentences about your partner. Don't ask any questions.

always	usually	often	sometimes not often	hardly ever	never

For example: She hardly ever listens to rock music.

1) He / she listens to rock music.
2) He / she reads poems.
3) He / she goes to school on Saturdays.
4) He / she visits relatives.
5) He / she watches TV in the morning.
6) He / she sweeps the floor.

7) He / she plays board games.
8) He / she wears red clothes.

4. b) Work with a partner. Read the sentences to your partner to check your ideas. How many correct ideas do you have?

I think that you usually listen to rock music.

Yes, that's right.

No, I never listen to rock music. I don't like it. I like hip hop.

Project work "My family traditions"

You are going to do a project about your family traditions. You need:

- White and coloured paper
- Coloured pencils or crayons
- Scissors
- Glue

- Take a piece of paper and divide it into eight sections. In every section you are going to write different information. See the plan below.
- Don't forget! You can use drawings, different elements (envelopes, notebooks, pockets, etc.) to make your work more interesting to read.

Section 1	Section 2	Section 3	Section 4
Write information about your family: how many people are there? What are their names? How old are they? What are their hobbies? etc.	Write down what people in your family always do. For example: We always have dinner together at 7 o'clock. We always visit our relatives on Sundays. etc.	Write down what people in your family usually do. For example: We usually watch comedies in the evenings.	Write down what people in your family often do. For example: We often cook plov.

Section 5	Section 6	Section 7	Section 8
Write down what people in your family sometimes do. For example: We sometimes go to the cinema.	Write down what people in your family don't often do. For example: We don't often buy new furniture.	Write down what people in your family hardly ever do. For example: We hardly ever go abroad.	Write down what people in your family never do. For example: We never drink cold tea.

1. a) Read the text and answer the questions:

a) What is the name of Aigul's new project?
b) What is the Guinness Book?
c) How many people are there in Aigul's Book?
d) Why does she put them in her book?

I really like studying in my new school. We often do interesting projects here. My new project is about my classmates. I call it "Aigul's Book of Class Records".

I like surfing the Internet. Some time ago I found information about the Guinness Book. In this book you can find a lot of interesting facts about very unusual and interesting people, about animals, nature and many other things.

In my class there are a lot of interesting students. I want to make a book about them.

This is James. He's Mr Big Lunch. He can eat four hamburgers and drink two bottles of Coke!

This is Marian. We call her Miss Selfie. She likes taking photos of herself. She uses her camera every ten minutes!

This is Natasha, our Miss Gymnast. She started doing gymnastics ten years ago, and now she's twelve.

This is Mr Genius. His name's David. Why is he genius? He reads very fast. He reads the texts diagonally!

This is Merry-Bell. She's Miss Want-To-Know-Everything. Do you know why? She spends all her free time in the library. She reads every book that she sees.

And this is me. I don't know what I can do very well, but I want to be in my book too! Can you help me?

1. b) Look at the text again and answer the questions.

1) Who likes taking photos?
2) Who likes reading?
3) Why is David in Aigul's Book?

1. c) Who do you think is the most unusual student in Aigul's book? Why?

2. Choose the question words from the box and complete the questions about Aigul's friends.

How?	How many?	What kind of?	When?
~~What?~~	How much?	Where?	Why?
How often?	Who?

1) What do Aigul's friends like?
2) _____ hamburgers can James eat for the lunch?
3) _____ Coke can James drink?
4) _____ does Marian take photos of herself?
5) _____ did Natasha start doing gymnastics?
6) _____ is David genius?
7) _____ does he read books?
8) _____ does Merry-Bell live?
9) _____ books does she read?
10) _____ doesn't know what he / she can do well?

7) you / how much / do / take / sugar / in your tea?
8) learn English / do / why / you?

5. b) Ask your partner the questions from exercise 5a.

6. "What is the question?"

- Play in small groups of 3–4 people. You need a dice and counters for each player.
- Player 1 throws a dice and makes as many steps along the board as the number on the dice shows. For example, Player 1 stops on number 2. There is an answer there: He is fifteen.
- Player 1 must think of a question that matches the answer. For example, How old is your brother? Or How old is your friend? Or How old is Ansar? etc.
- If all the players like the question because it has GOOD GRAMMAR and it MATCHES the answer, Player 1 can stay on his place.
- If the players don't like the question, Player 1 goes back to the place where he / she was before.
- If you are not sure, ask your teacher to help you. But YOU know everything yourself!

How? Why? Have you? Where? How often do you?

What? Are you? Do you? How many?

1. a) Look at the photos of different countries around the world. What countries are they?

1. b) Work with your partner or in small groups. Discuss what you know about customs and etiquette rules that people have in these countries.

1. c) Look at the title of the lesson. How do you understand the proverb? Discuss with your partner.

2. a) Aigul and her friends are talking about some common etiquette and customs in their countries. Read the text and compare with your ideas. How many of your ideas did you find in the text?

Mateo

People in Spain typically eat lunch from 2 o'clock and dinner from 9 o'clock. If you want to have dinner in a restaurant, don't arrive there early. Nobody will open the door for you because many of the restaurants will be closed. When you go to a bar, don't be shocked by dirty floors. It's normal to throw things, such as napkins, on the floor. It's a sign of a good bar!

Aimon

In France, we give our friends and family a kiss when we greet them. But the number of kisses is different in different parts of our country. In Paris the kissing etiquette dictates four kisses and this is OK for male friends too. You start on the left. Down south you give only three kisses to people.

Santino

In Italy, when somebody offers food to you, but you don't want any more food because you're full, you must refuse several times. If you don't do that, your food will be topped up. Oh, yes! When you eat, keep your hands above the table where everyone can see them. Another custom in Italy is an afternoon nap. The Italians are fond of an afternoon nap after lunch, with many businesses shutting for an hour or two between 1 pm and 4 pm.

Hanako

In Japan, it is very important to be always on time. We try not to show anger or aggression to other people. Japanese say that if you show these emotions, you lose your face. And when you greet other people, it's polite to bow. If you do that, other people may give you a smile for your efforts.

Amrita

In India many people eat with their hands, but it's very important to eat or shake hands with your right hand. Another eating taboo is touching other people's food with your lips. That is why you can't take a bite out of anything and then pass it to another person. You can't drink from a shared bottle. If you really need to drink, pour it directly into your mouth without touching a bottle with your lips. It's impolite to kiss, hug or hold hands in public, but some Indian men may hold hands as a sign of friendship.

Grammar
Direct / Indirect object

3. Look at the two sentences and answer the questions.

Nobody will open the door for you.
Nobody will open you the door.

1) Do the sentences have the same meaning?
2) Where is the subject in each of the sentences?
3) Where is the verb in each of the sentences?

4) Where is the object in each of the sentences?
5) How many objects does every sentence have?

Some verbs can have two objects – direct object and indirect object. Study the examples below and do the exercises.

<table>
<tr><th colspan="2">DIRECT OBJECT</th></tr>
<tr><td>
He broke the window.</td><td>A direct object is a person or a thing that “receives the action of the verb”.
He broke (What?) the window. The window received the action of the verb. So “the window” is the direct object.</td></tr>
<tr><td>
The ball hit the boy.</td><td>Who did the ball hit? The boy. The boy received the action of the verb. So “the boy” is the direct object.</td></tr>

2. Read the text and compare your answers.

1. What countries does the UK consist of?

The United Kingdom is in Western Europe to the northwest of France and between the North Atlantic Ocean and the North Sea. The United Kingdom is also called the UK. It's a unique country which consists of England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland. England, Wales and Scotland also make up Great Britain. Great Britain and Northern Ireland together form the "United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland". The Channel Tunnel, which opened in 1994, links the UK with France. It's the 2nd longest underground tunnel in the world.

2. _____

The capital city of the UK is London which is its political, economic and cultural centre. London is situated on the river Thames. It's one of the largest and the most beautiful cities in the world. Tourists can visit a lot of places of interest to get acquainted with this unusual city. One of them is Buckingham Palace which is the official residence of the Queen. Westminster Palace is the seat of the British Parliament. The British Museum is the biggest museum in London which contains ancient sculptures, manuscripts and coins.

3. _____

British people live in the UK. British people can also be English, Scottish, Welsh, or Irish. It is said that the British are reserved in manners, dress and speech. They are famous for their politeness and especially for their sense of humour. The British have a strong sense of humour which sometimes can be hard for foreigners to understand.

4. _____

The British start their day by having breakfast. A full English breakfast consists of bacon, sausages, fried tomatoes and toast. Cereals are also very popular in the UK. At midday people have lunch not with the members of the family but with colleagues or schoolmates. Schools and workplaces have canteens where children and adults can eat but the "packed lunch" is the most common thing to eat. A packed lunch consists of some sandwiches, a packet of crisps, an apple and a can of something to drink. For dinner British people can have "meat and two veg" which means a piece of meat with two different boiled vegetables and gravy. Gravy is a sauce made with the meat juice.

On Sunday people don't have to go to work or to school; so, they eat British food for Sunday lunch. For example, Roast Beef, Yorkshire pudding, Shepherd's Pie (minced lamb with mash potatoes), Steak and Kidney Pie, Bangers and Mash (sausages served with mash potatoes) and Fish and Chips.

Tom: I'm reading an interesting text from the newspaper. It says a person's name has a meaning and it affects our life and character.
Aigul: Let's check. I know the site that gives the meanings of the names.
Tom: OK. Tom is my nickname. My real name is Thomas.
Aigul: Hold on a minute. A person with the name 'Thomas' is quiet and clever. He likes working outdoors in nature. He's good at computers and Maths. Is it true?
Tom: Fantastic. I like working with computers. I'm interested in Maths. I like being in nature. What about your name?
Aigul: The name 'Aigul' means a flower that is beautiful like the moon. Aigul is a rare and beautiful flower which grows in Batken.
Tom: You're really beautiful. That's true.

Aigul: I know the legend about my name. A long time ago, a rich man lived in Batken. He had a daughter, Aigul, with a face like the moon. She fell in love with the brave warrior Kozu Ulan. But he died in a battle. Aigul was very sad and came to the top of the mountain. Then she jumped off it. Shortly after that, beautiful flowers started growing on the rocks. These flowers got the name Aigul and the rock got the name Aigul-tash.

Tom: Oh, it's a nice but sad legend about love. Don't jump off the mountain.

Aigul: Of course, I won't. I love life.

Once upon a time there lived an old man who had nine sons. He was very upset because his sons didn't listen to each other and always fought with each other. Other young men beat them. One day the old man decided to teach them a lesson. He brought nine twigs from the wood and asked his sons to sit in front of him. He put all nine twigs into a bunch and gave it to them. His sons thought that their father wanted to know who was the strongest. The old man told his sons to break the bunch of nine twigs. But nobody could break it. Then he gave a twig to each son and told them to break it. His sons could easily break a twig. The old man said: "If all of you are in unity, nobody will break you. If you fight with each other, your enemies will break you as you broke every twig." Soon the old man died. His sons decided to follow their father's advice. They didn't fight with each other and lived happily in unity.

Issyk-Kul Lake, called "the pearl of Kyrgyzstan", is a sacred place for Kyrgyz people. There are a lot of legends connected with Issyk-Kul. One of the legends says that once upon a time there lived a cruel khan. Coming back home from his hunt, he saw a girl of one poor man, and he was amazed by her incomparable beauty. Coming to his palace, the khan couldn't forget the girl, and got excited to remember her again and again. He ordered his servants to kidnap the girl from her village and bring her to his palace.

But the girl loved a young man. Before leaving for distant lands, he put his ring on the girl's finger and asked her not to remove it until he came back. "It will protect you from any misfortune!" the young man said. Every day the girl looked forward to exciting news about her young man.

So the girl rejected the Khan's love saying: "I love another man and cannot be a wife of the khan!" The girl was terrified and escaped to the mountains to hide herself from the khan's servants. Suddenly she found out that there wasn't a ring on her finger. The girl came back to the village to look for the ring, but the khan's servants caught her and took her to his palace. The khan kept her in the fortress and tried to persuade her to become his wife. She thought that her life without her young man would be boring and meaningless. She didn't want to become his wife and threw herself out of the window. The khan got his punishment for his evil-doings. Mountain water rushed down to the valley where was his palace and the whole valley disappeared under the lake. And at this place the lake formed.

5. b) Add the words to the table in exercise 4.

Grammar

When you use several adjectives to describe a thing, follow the order:

opinion → design and/or colour → material → clothes or accessories

You don't need to use all types of the adjectives in one sentence.

It's a comfortable denim jacket.
They are plain blue cotton trousers.

6. Look at the pictures of clothes in exercise 1 and write the description. For every item of clothes use minimum two adjectives.

Example: picture 1 – It's a warm checked cotton shirt.

7. Work with a partner and answer the questions.

a) What traditional clothes do people wear in your country? Describe them.
b) When do people in your country wear traditional clothes?
c) What do you know of other cultures where people wear very traditional clothes for special occasions?

8. b) Douglas's classmates ask him a lot of questions about his traditional costume. Read the text and put the questions onto the correct place.

a) Why do Scottish men wear "a skirt"?
b) Do Scottish men wear kilts every day?
c) How did kilt help people to show patriotism?
d) Why do Scottish people like kilts so much?
e) Why did Scottish men wear kilts, not trousers?

1. Why do Scottish men wear "a skirt"?

A lot of people want to know why Scottish men wear "a skirt". The answer to the question is that this clothing is NOT a skirt. It's a kilt.

2. _____

When it comes to the national costume, we don't think that there is anything like Scottish kilts! They are colourful, very practical, exotic, stylish and... cool! People around the world know the traditional kilts as a symbol of Scotland. It's also the symbol of patriotism!

3. _____

Scottish people were strong, proud and very patriotic. The English King George II in 1746 wanted to control the life of Scottish people and didn't let them wear kilts. But some Scots continued to wear kilts in protest. That's why the kilt became a symbol of Scottish culture and national pride.

4. _____

The weather in Highlands is sometimes very wet and the temperature is too cold at night. Scottish men used their kilts as a raincoat to cover their heads and as a blanket to cover their body at night. The kilts were also very comfortable when men climbed the mountains or crossed over the rivers. The trousers were too heavy for that.

5. _____

The kilt is "the national costume" of Scotland, but people don't wear it every day at the office or in the supermarket! People wear it for special occasions, like weddings, family parties, festivals and more.

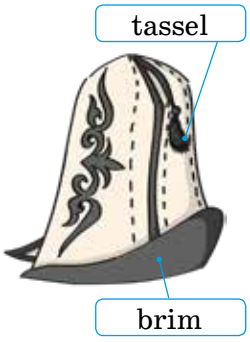
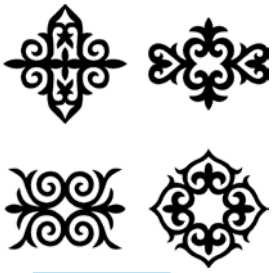
Designs and materials: cotton, wooden, denim, metal, leather, patterned, woolen, silk, floral, plastic.

1. a) Aigul is telling her classmates about the ak kalpak (white kalpak). What do you know about the history of this Kyrgyz traditional hat? Work with a partner and answer the questions below.



a) What does the form of the kalpak mean?
b) What detail of the kalpak is the symbol of life?
c) What does the tassel on the kalpak mean?
d) Why do Kyrgyz people decorate the kalpak with patterns?
e) Is the colour of the brim important? Why?
f) What can't you do with the kalpak?

1. b) Read the text and check your ideas. How many of your answers were correct?



In Kyrgyz culture a kalpak is not just a hat. The kalpak is the symbol of the nation. Every detail of the kalpak has meaning.

The form of the kalpak is the shape of mount Khan Tengri. The four lines of the kalpak symbolize life.

The tassel symbolizes the connection between the man who wears it, his children and the history of his fathers.

The pattern represents the family tree.

The colour of the brim can show the age and life experience of the man who wears it.

In the past, twelve-year-old boys got kalpaks with green brims. The green brim means that they were just beginning their lives and had a lot of things to learn.

Twenty-four-year-old men got kalpaks with blue brims. Thirty-six-year-old men received kalpaks with brown brims. Brown showed that the men were married and could be useful for their Motherland. What does it mean to "be useful for their motherland?"

When a man was forty years old, he got a hat with a beige brim. It meant that the man was old enough to teach his children how to live.

A sixty-year-old man could wear a kalpak with a black brim. The black line on the white hat told people that the man was wise and could see what was good or bad.

Kyrgyz people respect their kalpak. In Kyrgyz tradition you can't:

- kill a man with a kalpak on;
- play with your kalpak (for example, throw it up in the air);
- put your kalpak on the ground;
- put your kalpak by your feet when you sleep. You must put it near your head;
- sell your kalpak or give it like a present.

2. There are many sayings about the ak kalpak. Work with a partner and discuss how you understand them.

- "If you lose your kalpak, you lose your head."
- "Don't sell your kalpak or you will sell your mind."
- "Wear a kalpak and you won't be ill – it's warm in winter and cool in summer."

Unit 8

8A Thanksgiving — Lessons 71–72

1. Study the words in the box.

A pilgrim – is a person who travels for a long distance, usually for religious reasons.

Corn –

Crops –

2. Read the first part of the text and answer the questions.

1) Where did the Pilgrims arrive?
2) What did the Pilgrims want to do in the new land?
3) Who helped the Pilgrims in the new land?
4) Why did the pilgrims organize the feast?

The history of Thanksgiving

The story began when the ship Mayflower arrived in Massachusetts. The ship brought a group of Pilgrims. They wanted to practice their religion in the new land.

That year the winter was very cold and many Pilgrims died. The Pilgrims who didn't die asked for help from the native Indians who were their neighbours. The Indians taught them how to plant corn and other crops. The next autumn the Pilgrims got a very rich harvest and decided to give thanks to the Indians. They made a great feast that became a national tradition. Now we know this holiday as Thanksgiving Day.

3. Study the words in the box.

Stuffing – mixed food which you put inside a bird before you cook it.

Gravy – a sauce that you make from juices that come from meat when you cook it.

Cranberries –

4. Read the second part of the text and answer the questions.

1) What is the traditional Thanksgiving meal?
2) How long is usually the Thanksgiving celebration?

How do people celebrate Thanksgiving now?

Thanksgiving Day is traditionally a day for families and friends to get together for a special meal. The traditional meal often includes a turkey, stuffing, potatoes, cranberry sauce, gravy, pumpkin pie and vegetables. Thanksgiving Day is a time for many people to give thanks for what they have.

There are Thanksgiving Day parades in many cities or towns. Some parades or festivals also mark the opening of the Christmas shopping season. Some people have a four-day weekend that they spend visiting their families and friends.

fireworks ['faɪəwɜ:ks]

a dinner party

10 presents / gifts

People blow up balloons to decorate their houses.

People sometimes let the balloons into the air.

4. People in different countries have different traditions. Look at the pictures and try to guess how they are connected with the New Year celebration. Then read the text and check your ideas.

England

dark-haired man

loaf of bread

coal

In England people believe that the first guest who visits their house after midnight will bring good luck for them. The first guest should be a dark-haired man and he must make the family a present of a loaf of bread for the kitchen, drink for the head of the family and coal to light the fire. If you're the first guest, but don't have these gifts on you, you can't enter the house.

Denmark

door

broken dishes

chair

In Denmark people save all dishes that they don't use until the 31st of December. On New Year's Day they throw these dishes on their friends' doors. It shows their friendship and respect. If you have a big pile of broken dishes in front of your door, it means you made a lot of friends during the year.

They also have another tradition. At midnight people climb on top of chairs and jump into New Year to bring good luck.

China

red paint

firecracker

New Year in China is an important holiday. Before the holiday they do a lot of housework and shopping.

Red colour in China means happiness. That's why people paint the front doors in red to invite happiness in their houses. They hide all the knives because they don't want to cut the family good luck for the coming year.

Chinese people believe that if you make noise, evil spirits don't come into your house. That's why they decorate their houses with plastic firecrackers to scare the evil spirits away.

Chinese people celebrate New Year for ten days. Every day has its own meaning. For example, the third day is the mice wedding. People go to bed early to give mice chance to have their wedding ceremonies.

5. Connect the two parts of the phrases.

Example: 1) Decorate → i) Christmas tree

1) decorate	a) costumes

c) How did Aigul feel one day when she was seven? Why?
d) What was she doing before the electricity went out?
e) What was she doing until lunchtime?
f) At the end of the story the rain stopped. What was Aigul doing?

Yesterday, it was raining and thundering all day. Aigul stayed inside. She didn't want to go out or talk to anybody. She missed her home and her parents. Aigul came up to the window and looked how the rain drops were running down the window glass. While looking at the rain, she remembered the day from her childhood, when she was seven.

That day the weather was rainy, too. Aigul was playing inside the house. She wanted to be outside but had to stay in because it was raining. She was feeling tired of being trapped inside the house.

Aigul was trying to keep busy inside the house. She was reading her book until the electricity went out. Then, she decided to practise her drawing. She was practicing drawing until lunchtime. After lunch, she sat by the window and watched the rain.

While Aigul was watching the rain, the phone rang. Her mother was calling to say she was coming home. She was bringing a new game. Aigul and her mother ate ice cream and played the game.

While they were playing, the rain stopped! But Aigul didn't even notice it. She was having such a nice time with her mom!

- Can you give the examples of gadgets?
- What is your favourite gadget? What can it do?

2. a) Look at these pictures. What do you think these gadgets can do?

2. b) Read the text and check your ideas.

1 What is the man carrying? Is it a bag? A suitcase? A vacuum cleaner? No. It’s a scooter! You can make it as small as a suitcase and take it with you to any place. When you need it, just mount it and go riding.

2 A lot of people like having picnics. But there are some people who leave a lot of plastic bottles and plates after them. This rubbish is very bad for our nature. Look at these jelly glasses. When your picnic is over, you can eat them! You can also put them on the grass because these glasses melt under the sun and can't harm the environment.

3 Contact lenses are not a surprise. A lot of people who don't see very well wear them. But these lenses are not usual. They are a computer! You don't need a screen, a computer tower or a keyboard. You can watch a film, read an online book or surf the Internet any time you want. Open your eyes and see the world!

4 This is a very useful gadget for teachers. You can use it to pick up the chalk powder that drops down when you write on the blackboard, and make new chalk sticks.

5 This costume is not something you should wear every day. What can this costume do? It can protect you from guns, knives and even bombs. It can make you feel warm in cold weather and cool when it's hot. A man in this costume can easily carry a fifty-kilo weight and run fast at the same time! This is a real superhero costume.

6 What can you do with this marker? Of course, you can highlight the words or sentences in the book. You can draw with it or write with it. So, what is unusual about it? The magic starts when you look into the book six months later. You will not see any sign of the marker. It disappears! If you have this marker, you don't need to underline with a pencil and then clean your book before you give it back to the library.

3. Which gadget from the text above did you like the most? Which gadget would you like to have?

4. Complete the sentences with the verbs from the text.

(+) You _____ make it as small as a suitcase.
(–) They _____ do any harm the environment.
(?) What _____ this costume do?

Grammar

You use can to talk about the things which are possible.

Positive (+)	Negative (–)
I / You / He / She / It / We / They → can become rich.	I / You / He / She / It / We / They → can't become rich. (cannot)
Question	Short answers
Can I / You / He / She / It / We / They become rich.	– Yes, I / you / he / she / it / we / they can. – No, I / you / he / she / it / we / they can't.

You put can before the subject in questions.

Can you write with this marker? (NOT ~~You can write with this marker?~~)

Can + infinitive without to

You can stop here. (NOT ~~You can to stop here.~~)

Pronunciation

5. Listen and repeat the sentences after the teacher.

(+) You can underline the words.
[kən]

(–) You can't buy a laptop here.
[kɑ:nt]

(?) Can I pay by credit card? Yes, you can. / No, you can't.
[kən] [kæn] [kɑ:nt]

(?) How can it help me?
[kən]

6. a) Complete the sentences with the correct words from the box.

go	leave	~~become~~	get	see	give	buy

1) You can become the best student if you try.
2) I can't _____ the sentence on the board.
3) You can _____ your car near the house.
4) We can _____ her a present in the market.
5) You can't _____ good mark if you don't learn the words.
6) We can't _____ to the cafe without our parents.
7) We can _____ her a box of chocolates and some flowers.

6. b) Practice saying the sentences. Don't forget about the correct pronunciation.

7. Look at the different objects. Can you think of other ways how we can use them? Prepare your presentations about the most unusual way of using these objects. Who has got the best imagination?

2 an old shoe

3 a newspaper

4 a bucket

a pencil

Example:

We usually use a CD to listen to music. We can put a hot cup of tea on it...

We can use a CD to decorate a Christmas tree...

8. Work in small groups. You want to organize a new school, "Dream School". Discuss how to make your school the best place to study. Prepare the presentation of what is possible to do and get in your ideal school. And don't forget to use your own ideas!

Think about the following:

- what students can learn there;
- what students can do there during the break time;
- what students can eat there;
- what clubs students can attend, etc.

gadget contact lens bucket protect somebody from jelly to melt pick up chalk a stick

1. Work with a partner and answer the questions.

- What are your favourite things to do online?
- How do you understand the phrase Internet safety?
- What is personal information? Why should you keep it private?
- What should you do to be safe online?
- You found a new friend online. This person wants to meet you face-to-face. What should you do?
- You found online information that makes you feel scared or uncomfortable. What should you do?

2. Study the words in the box.

to post – to send information online embarrassing – if something is embarrassing, you feel very shy.
illegal – if something is illegal, the law says you can't do it.
cool – something very good password – secret code villain ['vɪlən] – a person who always does bad things to other people.

3. Read the rules about how to be safe online. Which of these rules you didn't know before? Which of the rules do you follow?

1. Don't post any personal information, like your address, email address, parents' work address or mobile number online. There are people who can use this information against you or your parents.

2. Think carefully before you post pictures or videos of yourself. If you put a picture of yourself online, most people can see it and may be able to download it. Your online picture is not just yours any more.

Talk to your parents about posting any pictures of yourself or others online and don't post anything that your parents think is not very good.

3. Clean up your page from everything too personal, embarrassing or illegal.

These pictures are not going to look so cool when you start applying for college, for example, or when your new friends see them.

4. Don't give out your password to anyone (even your best friend). You should trust only your parents. If people know your password, they can use your personal information against you or do some bad actions using your name.

5. Don't make friends online with people who you don't know. Remember that not everyone online is who they say they are. Not everybody online has good thoughts.

6. Don't meet up with people you met online. They can use different names or different photos because you can't check it. You think you're going to meet with a 13-year old girl, but you can see a 45-year old maniac.

If you want to meet with someone, talk to your parents first. If your parents agree to the meeting, you must be sure that the meeting is in a public place. And don't forget to bring your parent with you.

7. If you see something online that makes you feel uncomfortable, unsafe or worried, leave the website, turn off your computer, if you want to and tell your parents about it as soon as possible.

8. Don't respond to any messages that are unpleasant. It is not your fault if you got a message like that. Tell your parents about this right away.

REMEMBER! Not cool comic book characters or movie villains, but real online users can try to do something bad to you. Don't give them a chance. STOP them!

Grammar
Imperative Sentences

4. a) An imperative sentence gives a command. Look at the sentences and answer the questions.

1. Work with a partner and answer the questions below.

a) What can your favourite gadget do?
b) How often do you use it?
c) What was the longest time you spent without your favourite gadget? Why?
d) Describe how you felt without your favourite gadget.

2. Aigul is writing a composition about her favourite gadget. There are three words missing in each paragraph. Find the missing words in the box and put them in the correct places in the text.

it	out	to	~~is~~	beyond	face-to-face	the on	'm	without	along	and	was

1. My favourite gadget is a computer. It can help me in different situations. I often use when I do my homework. If I need to find different information, I surf the internet. If I want contact my friends or family, I send them e-mails. And finally, when I have free time, I play the computer games. So it can help you to study relax.

2. I remember one day without my computer. It was like a nightmare. My friends and I decided to spend the whole day our gadgets. At the beginning of the day I couldn't concentrate anything. I didn't listen to music or watch TV. And it was very boring. Then I decided to read a book, then to draw some pictures but the day was unusually long and not interesting.

3. In the evening my friends came and we went to cinema. We spent a wonderful time together. When we left the cinema, we found that the weather was perfect. The sun shining and the sky was so blue. One of my friends suggested walking a little. We went to the park, walked the narrow paths and admired green trees and bushes. We returned home at the sunset.

4. At the end of the day I understood that I so often wasted my time on the mobile phone, the Internet, MP3 player and so on. That day helped me to find more free time. I understood that there was another life all the gadgets. And now I absolutely sure that there is nothing better than communication.

3. Match the headings to the paragraphs (1–4) in the Aigul's composition.

a) Going out with friends.
b) Aigul's favourite gadget. → paragraph 1.
c) Aigul's longest day.
d) Life is good without gadgets.

4. Work with your partner and discuss the following:

a) Do you agree with Aigul that our gadgets sometimes "steal" our free time? Why?
b) Do you agree with the Aigul's statement "There is nothing better than face-to-face communication"? Why?

5. a) Look at the sentences from Aigul's writing. Work with your partner and answer the questions below.

- If I need to find different information, I surf the internet.
- And finally, when I have free time, I play the computer games.

a) Does Aigul say about usual things to do for her?

d) How many parts does each sentence have?
e) What is the difference between the conjunctions If and When?

5. b) Look at the sentences in the two tables below and answer the questions.

Conjunction	This is the condition (if-clause)	This is the result / effect (main clause)
If When	I need to contact my friends, I have free time,	I send them e-mails. I play computer games.

This is the result / effect (main clause)	Conjunction	This is the condition (if-clause)
I often use my computer I surf the Internet	when if	I do my homework. I need to find different information.

a) Which form of the verb do we use in the condition (if-clause)?
b) Which form of the verb do we use in the main clause?
c) Can we use the main clause before the condition (if-clause)?
d) What punctuation do we use when condition (if-clause) is on the first place?

6. Match the sentence halves to make zero conditional.

Example: If babies are hungry, they cry.

1) If babies are hungry,	a) they get fat.
2) If you touch a fire,	b) if I don't do my homework.
3) If people eat too much,	c) police answers.
4) If you drink too much coffee,	d) you get burned.
5) If plants don't get water,	e) when I feel sad.
6) If you dial number 102,	f) they die.
7) I always watch comedies	g) you get a headache.
8) My teacher gets angry	h) they cry.

7. Find the mistakes and correct them.

Unit 10

10A Ecology — Lessons 91–92

1. Work with a partner and answer the questions.

a) What is ecology? What does it study?
b) What is a global ecological catastrophe?

2. Aigul is telling about the ecology lesson she had at school. Read the text and compare your answers with what Aigul learned in the class.

Teacher: Do you know what the word ecology means?

Student 1: Ecology is everything around us – animals, trees, flowers, water and air.

Teacher: Right. The word ecology comes from Greek words. Oikos – means home and logos – means a study or a science.

Student 2: I know! Ecology means the study of our home.

Teacher: Yes, you're right. Our planet is our home. Trees, animals, birds, fish, and flowers are the neigbours. Ecology studies the relationships between all living things on our planet. It also studies how they interact with climate, water and soil which are very important for life. The life on our planet appeared many billion years ago but people started living on the planet only about two million years ago. Do you think that our planet is always happy to live with people? Do you think that people always take care of our planet?

Students together: No.

Aigul: There are some people who don't like the nature. They don't understand what our nature wants to say and don't care about it.

Teacher: Nowadays our planet is in danger of a serious ecological catastrophe. Do you know what ecological catastrophe means?

Tom: If there's an ecological catastrophe, the life on the planet will disappear. We must love our planet and save it.

Teacher: What ecological problems do you know?

Tom: For example air pollution or...

3. Students in Aigul's class gave examples of some ecological problems. What ecological problems do you know? Look at the pictures below and match them with the phrases from the box.

Example: picture 1 → air pollution

water pollution	air pollution	destruction of forests littering	destroying wildlife	radioactive pollution

4. Work with a partner and answer the questions.

- Why can the problems in the exercise 3 be dangerous for the environment?
- What can people do to solve these problems?

5. Study the table. Practise saying the words.

We can make a noun by adding the ending -tion to some verbs.

VERB		NOUN
1) pollute	→	pollution
2) destroy	→	destruction
3) solve	→	solution
4) produce	→	production
5) construct	→	construction

6. Complete the sentences with a verb or a noun from the table above.

1) There are a lot of factories that pollute the air with black smoke.
2) Water _____ can kill animals and people.
3) People _____ paper from wood. This leads to the _____ of forests.
4) We must try to find a _____ to ecological problems.
5) People _____ wildlife and that's why a lot of animals become extinct.
6) The _____ of the new railroads can be dangerous for the wild animals.

7. Work with a partner or in small groups. Use the ideas in the pictures below to say how people can help to save the planet.

People must save water. Don't forget to turn off the water when you leave home.

When you see running water, turn it off.

8. Write down your suggestions how to save the environment in the city, town or village where you live. Share your ideas with your classmates.

ecology	pollute	destroy	solve produce	construct	environment	water pollution
air pollution	littering	destruction of forests
destroying wildlife	radioactive pollution

1. Work with a partner and answer the questions.

a) What is the environment?
b) What is waste?
c) Look at these symbols. Do you know what they mean?
d) How are they connected to the environment?

2. Read the text and answer the questions in exercise 1.

Reduce, Reuse and Recycle – three great ways YOU can use to protect your environment. The environment is everything around you – the air, water, land, plants, and man-made things. You know that you need a healthy environment for your own health and happiness.

People make a lot of waste that can do a lot of harm to the environment and your health.

What exactly is waste? Waste is everything that we throw away and don't use any more. How can YOU help? You can help by learning about and practicing the three R's waste control.

Reduce – making something smaller or use less of something and not waste it.

Reuse – using something again and again.

Recycle – using materials from old items to make something new.

Please reduce, recycle, reuse,
You can help the Earth if you choose,
Recycle plastic, glass and cans,
Reduce the rubbish on your lands.

Why Reduce, Reuse and Recycle? How will the three R's rule help us save the environment?

- Recycle one aluminum can. You will save enough energy to run a TV for three hours!

- One ton of recycled paper will save 17 trees and won't let wild birds die.

- All living things need water. Of all water in the world, only 3% is fresh. Let's imagine that 100 liters represent all water in the world. How much water can we use? Only one teaspoon! So, it's very important to reduce the water waste. One brick that you put into a toilet cistern will save 10 million liters of water a day!

- People throw away a lot of food because they cook too much or don't use it on time. The food we waste the most are fresh vegetables, drink, fresh fruit, bread and cakes. Reducing food waste by 20% will give enough food to feed 25 million people!

Grammar

3. a) Complete the sentences from the text above.

1) You will save enough energy to run a TV for three hours.
2) You _____ save 10 million liters of water a day.
3) One ton of recycled paper _____ let wild birds die.
4) How _____ the three R's rule save the environment?

3. b) Answer the questions.

a) Do we use will / won't to talk about present, past or future?
b) Do we use will / won't to talk about planned or not planned things?
c) What is the full form of won't?
d) What form of the verb do we use after the verb will?

(+) Positive	(–) Negative
I / You / He / She / It / We / They'll (will) stop pollution.	I / You / He / She / It / We / They won't (will not) stop pollution.
(?) Question	Short answers
Will I / you / he / she / it / we / they stop pollution?	Yes, I / you / he / she / it / we / they will. No, I / you / he / she / it / we / they won't.
Will is a modal verb. You can use will to talk about the future when there is no present plan or intention.
We usually use the short form of will = 'll in positive sentences and won't [wəunt] (will not) in negative.
We use will / won't + infinitive. Don't use "to". We'll save the planet (NOT ~~We'll to save the planet.~~)

4. a) Complete the questions and answers.

a) – Will you save water?
– Yes, I will. – No, I won't.

b) – _____ you throw the paper?
– Yes, I _____. – No, I _____.

c) – _____ you water the flowers?
– Yes, _____. – No, _____.

d) – _____ you cook much food?

4. b) Practise saying the sentences after the teacher.

5. Choose the best future form.

1) I'll / won't turn on the light because it's very dark in here.
I'll turn on the light.
2) I'll / won't answer the phone because it's too late.
3) He's interested in medicine. He'll / won't be a good doctor.
4) I'll / won't finish this work today. I'm very tired.
5) In future people will / won't travel to Mars by special cars.
6) I'll / won't drive fast because the road is too bad.
7) She'll / won't stop eating so much chocolate.
8) He'll / won't buy her a present. He doesn't like her.

9) I'll / won't try to save as much water as possible.
10) I'll / won't tell at home about the three R's rule.

6. Look at the situations. Write down as many results of the situations as possible. Use the verbs will or won't.

Example:

situation	results
People cut off all the trees.	Wild animals will lose their home. The trees won't produce fresh air.

situation	results
1 People don't save water.
2 People replace old light bulbs with energy saving bulbs.
3 People pollute the environment.

situation	results
4 People stop eating meat.
5 Every person drives a car.

7. Write down will in the correct place in each sentence.

a) People save more money. People will save more money.
b) The air in the cities be very polluted.
c) You help to save the environment.
d) People have enough food to eat.
e) You be very fat.
f) There be a lot of flowers and plants.
g) You help to make the planet cleaner.

recycle	reuse	reduce	brick	spoon
teaspoon	waste	environment	electric bulb

1. Work with a partner and answer the questions.

a) How many seasons are there in Kyrgyzstan? What are they?
b) Which seasons have these months: February, August, April and October?
c) Which season do you like the most? Why?

2. Look at the pictures. What's the weather like in pictures a–f? Match the phrases with the pictures. Repeat the phrases after the teacher.

It's rainy.
It's sunny.
It's cloudy.
It's snowy.
It's windy.
It's foggy.

3. What other words from the box can you match with the pictures from exercise 1?

It's cold.	It's hot.	It's wet.	It's stormy.	It's dry.	It's frosty.

Pronunciation

4. a) Listen to the pronunciation of these words. Is the vowel sound the same in all the words?

cold hot snowy foggy

4. b) Listen and write the words in the correct column.

[ɒ]	[əʊ]
hot	cold

4. c) Listen and underline two [ɒ] sounds and two [əʊ] sounds in each sentence. Repeat the sentences after the teacher.

a) It doesn't often snow a lot in Rome.
b) The doctor told me not to get cold.
c) She has a lot of clothes in orange and gold.

Word formation

It's rainy./It's snowy. = There was rain/snow, then it stopped and maybe it will rain/snow again. Rainy/snowy are adjectives.

6. Fill the gaps with the correct weather words.

1) Put on your sweater. It's really cold today.
2) It's 33°C (thirty-three degrees) over zero. It's very _____.
3) It's going to _____. Take an umbrella.
4) It's winter. The roads are slippery. It's _____.
5) She's wearing sunglasses. The weather is _____.
6) The sky is grey. It might rain soon. It's _____.
7) We can't see anything. Put on the headlights of the car. It's _____.
8) Look at the window! It's _____ and I can see beautiful snow patterns.

7. a)Read what Aigul says about the weather in Kyrgyzstan. Complete the gaps. Use the words from the box.

hot	rains	wet	~~sunny~~	foggy cold	dry	cloudy	storms	snowy

"The weather in Kyrgyzstan is (1) sunny most of the year. In Kyrgyzstan we have (2) _____ summers and (3) _____ winters. Spring in Kyrgyzstan is short. It sometimes starts in late February and in May it becomes hot.

It doesn't often rain in Kyrgyzstan in summer. The weather is usually (4) _____ but March, April, October and November are sometimes very (5) _____.

There are a lot of mountains in Kyrgyzstan. The mountain climate is colder than in other parts of the country. It's often (6) _____ there. South North East West

1. a) Work with a partner and answer the following questions:

a) How do people call Issyk Kul?
b) What is Issyk Kul lake famous for?
c) What ecological problems is Issyk Kul lake experiencing now?
d) What do you think will happen if people don't solve the ecological problems of Issyk Kul?

1. b) Now read Aigul's report about ecological situation at Issyk Kul and compare your ideas.

Issyk Kul is Kyrgyz for "warm lake". It also has a lot of other different names, for example, Tuz Kul, that means "salty lake", Dzhit Kul – "fragrant ['freɪgrənt] or aromatic lake", and Timur-Tu-Nor – "a lake that has iron". Sometimes people call it "Kyrgyz sea" or "blue pearl" of Kyrgyzstan.

Issyk Kul is a unique place with unique flora and fauna, and indescribable beauty. But, unfortunately, this famed place is in danger now. Its water level is sinking by about 5 centimeters a year. The lake might eventually sink by two to three meters. This will probably lead to the decrease of the temperature. If it happens, it will definitely have awful results for wildlife in the region.

Unfortunately, it's not the only problem that we face with. People themselves do a lot of damage to the environment. They pollute Issyk Kul lake water and beaches with plastic bottles and bags, with the food leftovers and paper.

Divers lift tons of different types of rubbish from the bottom of the lake. There are some people who use our beautiful lake as a toilet or as a bath for animals! Ecologists calculated that every summer 15,000 liters of urine gets into the water of Issyk Kul lake! Scientists probably won't solve this problem in the nearest future if people don't help them. People must remember that all these actions definitely won't help to save our unique mountain lake. The lake definitely won't survive if people don't stop killing it!

Glossary

fragrant ['freɪgrənt] (adj.) – having a nice smell.

pearl [pɜːl] (n.) – a small hard shiny white ball that is formed inside the shell of a mollusc and is used as a jewel.

unique [juː'niːk] (adj.) – very special or unusual.

eventually [ɪ'venʧuəlɪ] (adv.) – in the end.

unfortunately [ʌn'fɔːʧ(ə)nətlɪ] (adv.) – we use it to say that a situation or fact makes you sad or disappointed.

leftover ['leftˌəuvə] (n.) – food that people don't eat at the end of a meal.

Unit 11

11A What is agriculture? Lessons 101–102

1. Look at the pictures and answer the questions.

a) What is agriculture?
b) How is agriculture important in our life?
c) What is the difference between farmers and gardeners?

2. a) Read the text and compare your answers.

Agriculture is the practice of farming, growing of crops, raising of animals to get food and other products. We can get fruit, vegetables, wool and cotton from nature. We can also get food from animals: meat, eggs and milk. People use wood to build their homes. Many other important products, for example, medicines and paper also come from plants. Not all crops can grow everywhere because soils and temperatures are different in different places. Agriculture takes a lot of hard work. Farmers work hard to produce good food for all of us to eat.

Farmers and gardeners may grow the same crops. Gardeners usually grow enough crops for their family. Most gardeners grow crops because they like fresh fruit and vegetables or they enjoy gardening. Farmers grow a large crop and sell it to earn money. Some farmers raise animals to sell. Both farmers and gardeners start work early in spring not to be late for the harvest.

2. b) Read the text again. Are the sentences True or False? Correct false sentences.

1) The same crops can grow everywhere. → F
   Not all crops can grow everywhere because soils and temperatures are different in different places.
2) We get necessary products from agriculture.
3) All foods come from crops.
4) Gardeners grow crops to earn money.
5) Farmers can grow crops and raise animals.

2. c) Write out any words or expressions you don't know in your copybooks. Try to guess them from the context. Check with your partner, teacher, or dictionary. Learn five new words and make sentences with them.

d) What else do you know about them?

2. b) Read the paragraphs. Guess which animals the paragraphs are about. Compare your answers.

1) Cows – These farm animals live for over 20 years. They eat grass, plants and corn. They spend up to 6 hours a day eating and 8 hours sleeping. They produce milk to feed their calves. They give us milk, leather and meat. We make most dairy products such as butter, cream, ice cream and cheese from milk.

2) _____ – They live for about 25 years. They eat grass and they also like peas, beans and corn, fruit such as apples, and even carrots. They are very social animals. They live in groups. They can sleep standing up or lying down. People use their milk to make kymyz. Most foals are born at night and away from possible danger. Foals can run shortly after birth.

3) _____ – They are domestic or farm birds that cannot fly. They live for about 10 to 15 years. They eat worms, insects, seeds, fruits, vegetables and many other foods. Each of them lays about 300 eggs a year. Also, they give us meat. They are famous as very good mothers. They teach their chicks how to eat, drink and behave in dangerous situations. They also have a very good memory. They can remember almost hundred people and recognize them very easily.

4) _____ – They live for about 7 years. People raise them for their wool to keep warm and meat to eat and milk to drink and to make cheese. Woolen clothes also stay cool in summer and warm in winter. These animals can survive in cold or dry climates and eat different types of grass. They start caring for their lambs as soon as they are born. Lambs enjoy climbing and are very curious just like any other child.

2. a) Read the text and check your ideas. How many of your ideas did you find in the text?

What will the weather be like tomorrow?

People at all times wanted to know about the future. They asked fortunetellers and wizards to tell them about what will happen in their life. Very often people wanted to know about the weather because it was really important for farming and gardening. Nowadays people are also interested in weather predictions. We want to know if we need to take umbrellas or put on our warm sweaters. These days you don't need to go to any wizards or fortunetellers to ask them about the tomorrow's weather. You can find about it from TV, radio or the Internet. Or you can predict the weather yourself! If you're an attentive and a watchful person and if you know the weather omens, it won't be difficult for you!

What is an omen? In general, an omen is a sign from the natural world that can send you a message about good or bad things coming in future. In many cultures there are a lot of omens about the weather. Let's look at some of them.

- When smoke from chimney falls down, the weather will be stormy. If smoke from the chimney goes up, the weather will be clear.
- If you see a rainbow in the morning, there will be a storm within twenty-four hours. If a rainbow is in the evening, the weather will be clear.
- If clocks and watches tick louder, the weather will be wet.

There are also a lot of weather predictions related to animals. For example, cats. What will the weather be like if your cat washes over her ear? Will it rain or not if your cat scratches the leg of your table? Let's look at the answers together.

- If a cat washes over her ear, the weather will be fine. But if your cat scratches the leg of your table, it will rain.
- The weather will be windy if an old cat starts running and playing.

Do you think only cats can tell you what the weather will be like tomorrow? There are more animals which can tell you about weather changes in future.

- When a dog eats grass, rain will come very soon.
- If cows lay down on their fields, it will rain.
- If fish stick their noses out of the water a lot, story weather will be soon.
- If the chickens go out during the rain, it will be a long wet storm.

2. b) Find the answers in the text.

1) Why are people interested in weather predictions?
2) Who did people ask if they wanted to know about the future?
3) What is an omen?

2. c) What other omens about the weather do you know? Tell your partner.

3. a) Complete the sentences from the text.

a) If you _____ a rainbow in the morning, there _____ be a storm.
b) If clocks and watches _____ louder, the weather _____ _____ very wet.
c) If smoke from the chimney _____ up, the weather _____ _____ clear.
d) The weather _____ be windy if an old cat _____ running and playing.
e) When a dog _____ grass, rain _____ come very soon.

3. b) Answer the questions about the sentences from exercise 3a.

a) Do the sentences refer to past, present or future time?
b) Do you use if or when to say that you are sure that one action will follow another action?
c) Do you use if or when to say that it is possible that one action will follow another action?

3. c) Look at the sentences in the table and answer the questions.

Conjunction	+	Subordinate clause (condition)	+	Main clause (result)
If		cows lay down,		it will rain.
If	+	you're an attentive person,	+	it won't be difficult for you.
When		smoke from chimney falls down,		the weather will be stormy.

a) Which form of the verb do we use in the main clause?
b) Which form of the verb do we use in the subordinate clause?
c) Can we use will after the words if and when?
d) Can we use the main clause before the subordinate clause?
e) What punctuation do we use when subordinate clause is on the first place?

Look at these examples, which talk about the future.

You'll catch a cold if a cat sneezes three times.*
When Malik arrives, I'll ask him about my book.*

We're talking about the future, but we use a present tense after:

a) if / when

If Nurlan comes, I'll tell him. (= you think Nurlan might come)*
When Nurlan comes, I'll tell him. (= you know Nurlan will come)*

b) when / as soon as

As soon as Nurlan comes, we'll have lunch. (= you want to have lunch immediately)*
When Nurlan comes, we'll have lunch. (= it's not so urgent)*

4. Underline the correct verb forms.

1) If dogs begin running in circles, the weather is / will be bad.
2) When the birds fly / will fly low to the ground, it will rain.
3) If there's nothing good on TV tonight, I go / will go out.
4) I will buy new jeans when I have / will have enough money.
5) If I get up / will get up early tomorrow, I will go running.
6) I will go home when the lesson will finish / finishes.
7) I think I will be / am a doctor when I finish school.
8) If a cat wash / washes in front of the door, the guests come / will come.

5. a) Write the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

1) When Tom (get home) gets home after school, he will do his homework.
2) If it (rain) _____ tomorrow, Beth will come to school by car.
3) Aisha will become a teacher when she (leave) _____ university.
4) Terry will play computer games when he (do) _____ his homework.
5) If Dan (not study) _____ well, he will get a bad mark.
6) If Kate doesn't wake up early tomorrow, she (be) _____ late for school.
7) Nurlan (go) _____ to Issyk-Kul when he (have) _____ summer holidays.

5. b) Work with a partner. Replace the names in the sentences from exercise 5a with the names of people in the class. How many true sentences can you make?

6. Put the verbs in brackets in the correct form: present simple or will + infinitive.

a) If she stops (stop) eating too much chocolate, she'll become slimmer.
b) His mum will be happy if he _____ (come) home earlier.
c) If you see a spider in your room, you _____ (get) some news.
d) You _____ (be) tired tomorrow if you don't go to bed right now.
e) When he _____ (get) to school, he'll phone.
f) She _____ (help) you with the homework if you ask her.
g) If you _____ (buy) this dress, you'll be the most beautiful girl at the party tomorrow.

1. Work with a partner and answer the questions.

- What is safety?
- Who is a stranger?
- Who are safe strangers?

2. Read the text and check your answers to the exercise 1.

A stranger is anyone who your family doesn't know well. You can see strangers every day in shops, in the park and in the street. Most of these strangers are nice and normal people, but a few maybe not. Don't think that "bad strangers" look scary like monsters or villains in cartoons. This is not true. Pretty strangers can be just as dangerous as the not-so-pretty ones. You can never understand if strangers are nice or not just by looking at them. You should be really careful about all strangers.

But don't think that all strangers are bad. If you are lost or if a bad stranger follows you, you need to ask for help. Safe strangers are people who you can ask for help when you need it. Police officers and firefighters are two examples of safe strangers who you can easily recognize. Don't forget about your parents and teachers who you can always trust.

You must learn to see dangerous situations and be careful with strangers or other adults who may have bad intentions. If an adult asks you to disobey your parents or do something without asking them, stop talking to this person and tell your parents about this!

Remember "No, Go, Yell, Tell" rule if you are in a dangerous situation. When somebody says or does something that makes you feel uncomfortable, say NO, GO away as fast as you can, YELL as loud as you can and TELL a trusted adult about what happened as soon as you can. This rule will help you to be safe if you're in danger.

3. Work with your partner or in a small group. Discuss together if the situations below are dangerous or not. What advice can you give to children who are in these situations?

1) A nice-looking man comes to you in the park and asks to help him to find his dog.
2) A woman who lives not very far from you, but who you don't know very well, invites you into her house for some tea and cakes.
3) You go home after your school. The weather is very bad. A stranger offers to give you a ride home by his car.
4) You're walking home from your friend's house. A car stops near you and a stranger asks you to give him directions.
5) A person you know says or does something that makes you feel uncomfortable.

4. Look at the sentences in the table and answer the questions.

	+	Subordinate clause (condition)	+	Main clause
If		you are lost,		you need to ask for help.
If	+	an adult asks you to disobey your parents,	+	stop talking to this person!
When		you see something dangerous,		don't be afraid to tell your parents about it.

Main clause	Conjunction	Subordinate clause
Remember the safety rule	if when	you are in a dangerous situation.

f) Which form of the verb do we use in the subordinate clause?
g) Which form of the verb do we use in the main clause?
h) Can we use the main clause before the subordinate clause?
i) What punctuation do we use when subordinate clause is on the first place?

Look at these examples, which talk about the future.

If a bad stranger follows you, you need to ask for help.
You can never understand if strangers are nice or not.

In the main clause we use:

a) a future verb form:

I won't see you before I leave.
When the rain stops, I'm going to go for a walk.
When I see you next time, I'll give it back.

b) imperative:

If I don't tell you, don't do that.
Speak louder when teacher asks you a question.*

c) other modal verbs:

If you're good, I might buy you an ice-cream.
When our director comes, we can start our meeting.

5. a) School is usually a safe place, but you may have difficult situations there too, for example, with bullies. Read the information about bullies and bullying. Do you know anybody in your school who is a bully?

What is bullying?

- If somebody hurts you repeatedly,
- If someone frightens or scares you repeatedly,
- If someone threatens you repeatedly, all of these actions are bullying.

5. b) Work with your partner or in small groups and discuss what advice you can give to the children who have the problems with bullies at school.

1) If somebody from your school or your class bullies you, _____
2) If you see a stranger at school, _____
3) If somebody wants to attack you physically, _____
_____
4) If you know that somebody comes to school with a weapon, _____
_____
5) If you don't go home straight after school, _____
6) Take a road that you know very well when _____

6. Read the text and compare your ideas. How many of your ideas were similar?

Safety at school

You spend a lot of time at school and you need to know what is happening there. If somebody from your school or from your class bullies you or other students, take them seriously. If you don't know what to do in this situation, discuss it with your parents or somebody who you feel comfortable with. Be careful of people on the territory of your school who you don't know very well. If you think these people threaten somebody, tell about this to your teachers or other adults at school.

If you have problems with other students who want to attack you physically, try to avoid the fight. Fighting can make the situation worse. If you feel that your safety is threatened, tell your teachers or parents about it as soon as possible. Don't be silent!

If you know that somebody brings a weapon to school, report about this immediately. You can do it anonymously if you are afraid. But if you don't do that, some people, and maybe you, will be in danger.

If you don't go home straight after school, don't forget to inform your parents about it. Make a phone call. Your parents need to know where you are at any time of the day.

When you go home after school or after a walk with your friends, use the road that you know very well. It is always a good idea to walk with a group of people or at least with some another person. And don't forget about strangers!

7. a) Write down the tips for safety at home when you're at home alone. Use the ideas from the box.

Example: When you're at home alone, don't forget to lock all doors and windows.

A stranger phones you when you are at home alone;
It's dark in the street and your parents are not home yet;
You're at home alone. A man from an electric company comes;

7. b) Use more ideas of your own to prepare at least six safety rules.

safe	safety	stranger	villain
follow	firefighter	recognize	trust adult	intention	disobey	weapon
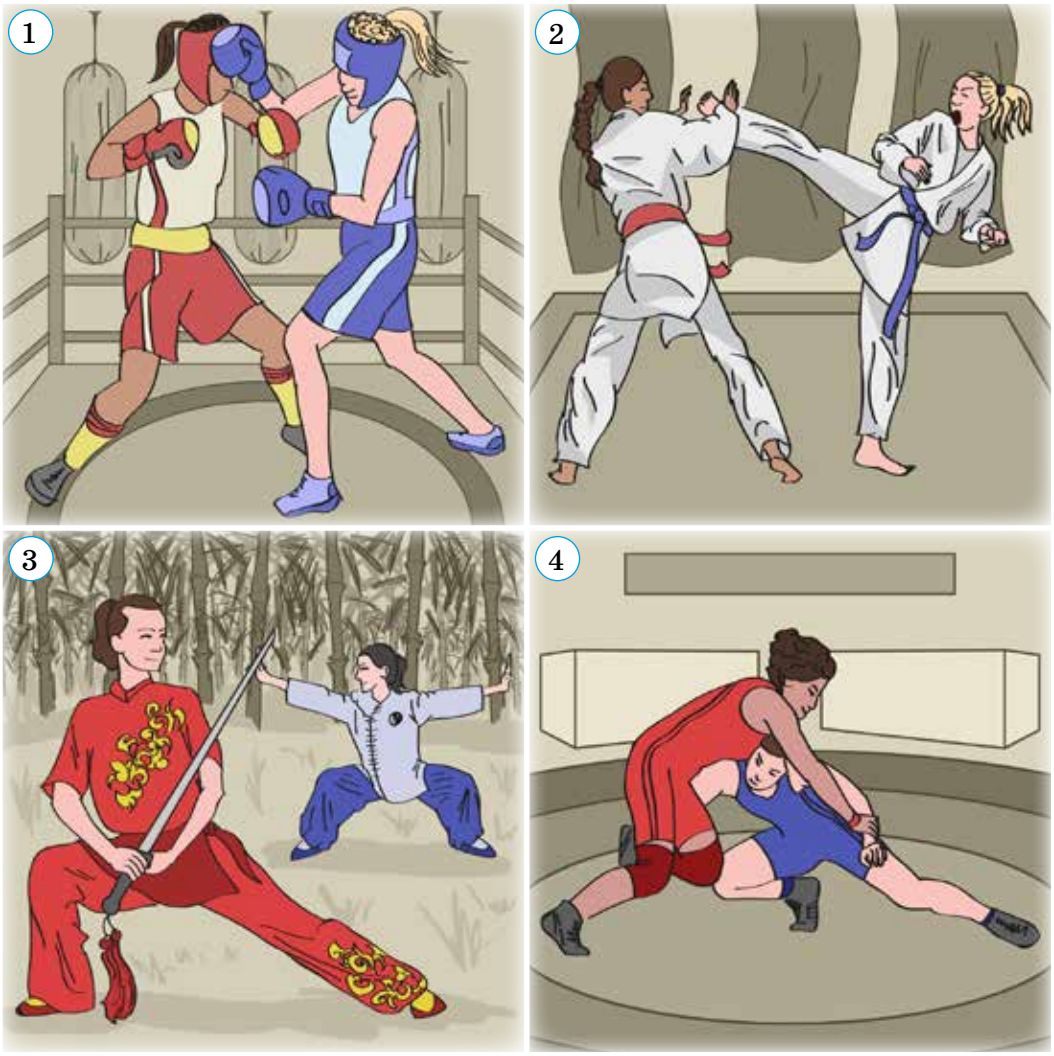
bully	threaten	silent	lock

1. a) Look at the photos. Name the sports.



1. b) Work with a partner and answer the questions.

a) Which sport from the Exercise 1a is the most popular in your country?
b) Why do you think women go in for sports like boxing or martial arts?
c) Do you agree with the statement that not every sport is good for women? Why?

2. a) Read the dialogue between Aigul and Tom and answer the questions.

a) Why does Aigul want to go in for sport?
b) Does Tom like Aigul's decision?

Tom: Hiya!
Aigul: Hi! The door's open!
Tom: Here, I remembered to bring you my notebook. And what are you doing?
Aigul: I'm surfing the Internet and trying to choose what sport to go in for.
Tom: I thought you were always interested in dancing, art and drawing, but not sports. Why? Maybe because of their nice uniforms?
Aigul: Why do you think that girls always think about how they look and nothing else?
Tom: Ok, I'm sorry if I hurt your feelings. I didn't mean to. So... I noticed that you're looking at the martial arts mostly. Not gymnastics or athletics, which I think are more suitable for girls. Why?
Aigul: Last time, when we were talking about different villains and bullies, I decided to learn how to defend myself. I think it's very important nowadays.
Tom: You want to defend yourself? I've always thought that boys must defend girls, mustn't they?
Aigul: Yes, you're right. But, unfortunately, not every boy can defend himself! And more than that, there are some boys who want to bully others, and girls in particular! That's why I think every girl must be able to defend herself.
Tom: Yes, you must be right then. Just think twice before you've made your choice about the sport to do. I don't think that girls are any good at sports like boxing, for example. It's too traumatic. And girls always worry about their appearance.
Aigul: Tom, again? Let girls decide what is good and what is not for them by themselves.
Tom: OK, OK, I give up. I'll also go in for sport then, and we'll be able to defend each other!

2. b) Aigul says, "every girl must be able to defend herself." Do you agree with her? Why? Discuss with your partner.

3.a) Look at the sentences from the dialogue above. What is the meaning of the highlighted words?

- I decided to learn how to defend myself.
- You want to defend yourself?
- Not every boy can defend himself.

3. b) Study the table and answer the questions.

Subject and Object pronouns

1) He is taking photo of her.

a) Where is the subject of the sentence?
b) Where is the object of the sentence?
c) Is the subject of the sentence the same as the object?

Reflexive pronouns

2) He is taking photo of himself.

a) Where is the subject of the sentence?
b) Where is the object of the sentence?
c) Is the subject of the sentence the person as the object?

4. Complete the table with the object and reflexive pronouns.

	Subject Pronouns	Object Pronouns	Reflexive Pronouns
Singular	I	me	myself
	you	_____	_____
	he	him	_____
	she	_____	_____
	it	it	itself

	Subject Pronouns	Object Pronouns	Reflexive Pronouns
Plural	we you they	us _____ _____	ourselves yourselves _____

Use a reflexive pronoun when the object of the sentence is the same as the subject:

I cut myself when I was making dinner.

By + reflexive pronoun = alone (without somebody).

I live by myself.

Remember! We don't use reflexive pronouns with the verbs wash, dress, or shave.

He washed ~~himself~~ in cold water.
My father always shaves ~~himself~~ in the morning.
Mike dressed ~~himself~~ and got ready for the party.

5. Write subject pronouns instead of the highlighted words.

1) Adel is a student. → She
2) Azim is my friend.
3) Nurgul and I are teachers.
4) How old is your sister?
5) The ball is under the table.
6) The Nazarovs are in Osh now.
7) Where is the cat?
8) Where are my books?
9) Rustam and Ruslan are brothers.
10) Timur is not at school.
11) Marina and you are very good at Math.
12) Asan's children are at the party tonight.

6. Write object pronouns instead of the highlighted words.

1) Where did you buy this dress? → It
2) Do you know that man?
3) Please, put your pens down.
4) Nobody wants to help Zarina.
5) The Smirnovs want to visit you and me next weekend.
6) Can you repair my computer?
7) Everybody likes watching TV.

8) I hate these noisy children.
9) Alina cut her hair yesterday.
10) I saw Asan and Suutai in the cinema.

7. Fill in the gaps with the missing reflexive pronouns.

1) My grandmother burnt herself when she was baking a cake.
2) We entertained _____ playing cards.
3) We repaired the computer _____.
4) I hurt _____ when I fell down the ladder.
5) I don't like to talk about _____.
6) My sister lives by _____.
7) Sarah looks at _____ in the mirror for hours.
8) We hurt _____ in the accident.
9) My little sister dresses _____.
10) You are going to enjoy _____ if you go to the party.
11) Kids don't hurt _____ when they are in the park.
12) I wash my clothes _____.
13) I am going to buy _____ a new dress.
14) I taught _____ how to swim.
15) She blames _____ for the mistake.
16) Behave _____!
17) The hunter shot _____ accidently.
18) My brother cuts _____ when he uses that knife.
19) My dog nearly killed _____ when it ran across the road.

8. Rewrite the sentences as in the example using a reflexive pronoun.

1) Nobody helped me to do the homework.
I did my homework by myself.
2) Nobody helped Alibek to pass his exams.
_____
3) Nobody helped Aika to learn how to ride a bike.
_____
4) Nobody helped me to solve the problem.
_____
5) Nobody helped Aida and Natasha to carry their heavy bags.
_____
6) Nobody helped us to paint the walls.
_____
7) Nobody helped you to write an essay.
_____

9. Look at the pictures. What's the difference between each other and themselves?

They are looking at each other.

They are taking photo of themselves.

Use each other when person A does an action to person B and person B does the same action to person A:

They phone each other.

They love each other.

10. Write each other or a suitable reflexive pronoun (myself, yourself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves).

1) Why are you talking to _____? Don't you think it's a bit weird?
2) He cut _____ while he was shaving.
3) Mary and me are best friends and we trust _____ completely.
4) Did you enjoy _____ at the party last night?
5) Lucy always remembers my birthday and I remember hers. We always send _____ birthday cards.
6) Look at _____! You're absolutely wet.
7) We know _____ very well.
8) They don't understand _____ at all.
9) I've made the cake _____ I hope you'll enjoy it.

martial arts | boxing | karate | kung fu | judo suitable | defend | in particular | traumatic

1. a) Work with a partner and answer the questions:

a) What is first aid?
b) When do you give first aid?
c) Who can give first aid?
d) What is the first thing you do when giving first aid?
e) What is the second thing you do?

1. b) Read the text and check your ideas.

First aid is the help you give someone when they are ill or injured before an ambulance arrives. If your friend has an accident or some serious health problems, then the first person there will be the first aider or the person who will help your friend until others get there.

You don't have to be doctor to give first aid. People who give first aid are usually ordinary people who are near the person in need. Sometimes they are trained to give first aid. It's a great idea for older children and adults to do a first aid course so that you know what to do to help others. But even if you are not trained, you can save somebody's life. There are also the situations when you can give help to yourself.

There are two rules of first aid that you must remember. Firstly, you need to get the person out of danger. But before you do anything to help the person, make sure that it is safe for you to help him or her. If it is safe for you but the person is in a dangerous place, like the middle of the road, get the person move to a safer place. Secondly, you need to get help quickly. In Kyrgyzstan, you need to phone 103 to get an ambulance.

2. a) Match the accidents in the box with the pictures.

Example: Picture 1 = walk / bump into something

cut yourself	twist an ankle walk / bump into something	touch hot pan fall over	drop a glass slip

2. b) Match the accidents in column A with the consequences in column B. (There are many possibilities)

A	B
1) If you cut yourself with a knife,	a) you'll probably get a bruise.
2) If you twist an ankle,	b) you might hurt yourself badly.
3) If you slip on some ice,	c) you will probably burn yourself.
4) If you walk / bump into something,	d) you might break an arm or a leg.
5) If you touch hot pan,	e) you will probably bleed.
6) If you fall over in the street,	f) you will probably hurt yourself slightly.
7) If you drop a glass on the floor,	g) you might cut yourself.
	h) you can't walk on it easily.

3. Work with your partner. Discuss why you should be careful in the following situations.

If you walk on a wet floor, you might fall down and get a bruise.

Or you could hurt yourself badly, for example, break your leg.

1) If you walk on a wet floor
2) If you're using an iron
3) If you're cutting the paper with sharp scissors
4) If your room is messy and there are toys everywhere on the floor
5) If you are skating
6) If you walk in the dark room

4. What is first aid in the situations mentioned in the Exercise 2b? Do the quiz in pairs. Which answers do you think are correct? (More than one answer is possible.)

1. If you cut yourself with a knife:
   a) you should go to bed and rest until bleeding stops.
   b) you should wash the cut with soap and water and put a plaster on it.
   c) you shouldn't lift anything heavy.
2. If you twist an ankle:
   a) you shouldn't walk on it.
   b) you should put some ice on it.
   c) you should raise the ankle above the heart level.
3. If you burn your hand on a hot pan:
   a) you should put some oil on the burnt.
   b) you should put a plaster on it.
   c) you should put a lot of cold water on it.
4. If you get a bruise:
   a) you should put some ice in a bruised area.
   b) you should rest and keep cool.
   c) you should use a warm compress on a bruised area immediately.

5. Listen and read the doctor's recommendations and compare them with your ideas.

OK well, as soon as you cut yourself, stop what you're doing. See how bad the cut is. Is it a nick or is it deep? Wash it with soap and water and see if it continues to bleed. Once bleeding has stopped, put an antibiotic ointment and a plaster on the cut.

If your ankle gets swollen and painful after you've twisted it, give it a rest by not walking on it. You will also need to put some ice on it to keep down the swelling. Don't put ice directly on the skin, you need to use a thin piece of cloth between the ice and your skin and don't keep it on more than 20 minutes. You can also use an elastic compression wrap to reduce swelling and raise your ankle above the level of your heart for two to three hours a day if possible. Swelling usually goes down with a few days.

If you burn your hand, you should put it under the cold tap, for at least twenty minutes. It's not a good idea to put a plaster on it, because you could damage the skin when you take it off.

When you get a bruise, you can help speed healing process if you put something cold on it as soon as possible. When you use cold, the size of the bruise will be smaller. Next day, you should put some warm compress to bring more blood circulation to the area.

6. a) Work in small groups of three people. Prepare short conversations. Person A has some health problem, person B gives a bad advice, Person C gives a good advice.

Example: A: I've cut my finger!
B: You should put the cut under the hot water.
A: Really?
C: Mmm... I'm not sure. I think you should wash it and put a plaster on the cut.
A: Oh, thank you.

6. b) Act out some of your conversations for other students.

take care	first aid	injured	ambulance
cut yourself	slip	twist an ankle walk / bump into	something	touch hot pan	fall over drop a glass	bleed	swelling	compression
bruise	circulation	antibiotic hurt yourself	slightly / badly	reduce

Unit 14

14A Household chores — Lessons 132–134

1. a) Match the words with the pictures.

Example: Picture 1 – water the plant

iron [ˈaiən] the clothes	do the washing	water the plant mop the floor	make the bed	sweep the floor take out the rubbish	do the washing up

1. b) Listen, check and repeat.

2. a) Test your partner.

What's number 1?

Water the plant.

2. b) Who does what in your family? Tell your partner using the adverbs of frequency, e.x., always, usually, often, sometimes, hardly ever and never.

My mother always irons the clothes.

2. c) Discuss the questions with your partner.

1) What household chores [tʃɔːz] do you do?
2) What household chores do / don't you like doing? Why / not?

3. a) Read the text. What season is it? Why do you think so?

Today is Sunday. It's warm because the sun is shining. The (1) sky is clear and blue. The trees are getting new leaves. The flowers are blooming. The (2) _____ are dancing and singing on the tree branches. The bees are busy flying from one flower to another in search of honey. Aigul's family is also very busy at the moment. Everybody is working to finish the housework as fast as possible because they're going to the (3) _____ today. Her father is taking out the (4) _____ now. Her mother isn't cooking the food but she's doing the washing right now. Aigul's grandmother is ironing the (5) _____ and her grandfather is watering the plants at the moment. Aigul is mopping the (6) _____. What is Aigul's brother doing? He isn't playing but he's making his bed. It's pleasant that everybody is taking part in cleaning the house.

3. b) Read the text again and complete the gaps with the words in the box.

clothes	sky	concert	floor	rubbish	birds

3. c) Find all the names of household chores in the text.

Grammar

Present Continuous (+), (–), (?)

4. Read the text in exercise 3 again. Find the verbs in the Present Continuous. Answer the questions.

a) When is the action happening in the sentences with the Present Continuous?

b) How do we form the Present Continuous?
c) What time phrases do we use in the Present Continuous?

5. Complete the table.

Positive (+)		Negative (–)
I'm doing the washing up.	→	I'm not doing the washing up.

2. Listen to Aigul's friends Nicolas and Kelly. What types of holidays have they been on?

Nicolas

My family doesn't like big cities – they are too noisy. There are too many cars and people there. We love going to wild places. I've been to South Africa for the safari holiday – that was really exciting! We also like beaches if they are not very crowded. So, I've been to Seychelles – that was great. But I've never been to Issyk-Kul. That's our next trip.

Kelly

I live with my mom and we both love travelling and shopping. We've been to Hong Kong and spent all our holiday shopping. There are fantastic shops there! I know that in Istanbul there's the Grand Bazaar. People say it's the best place to shop, but we haven't been to Turkey yet. We also like historical places. I've been to the Great Wall of China, the Eiffel Tower in Paris and the Burana Tower in Tokmok.

Grammar
Present Perfect

3. a) Look at the sentences from Nicolas and Kelly's stories and answer the questions.

Nicolas: I've been to South Africa.
Kelly: We've been to Hong Kong.

a) Does Nicolas know South Africa? Yes / No
b) Is Nicolas in South Africa now? Yes / No
c) Do we know when Nicolas went to South Africa? Yes / No
d) Do Kelly and her mom know Hong Kong? Yes / No
e) Are they in Hong Kong now? Yes / No
f) Do we know when Kelly and her mom went to Hong Kong? Yes / No

4. Listen, check and repeat.

5. Read the rules in the table and do the exercises.

We use the Present Perfect to talk about finished actions in time "from past to now".

We don't say when the actions happened.

Subject + 've (or have) + past participle (verb III)

I / You / We / They've been to America.
I / You / We / They've been on shopping tour.

Subject + 've (or have) + never + past participle (verb III)

I / You / We / They've never been to Issyk-Kul.

Subject + haven't (or have not) + past participle (verb III)

I / You / We / They haven't been to Turkey (yet).

Been is the past participle of the verb to be, but you can also use it as a past participle of the verb to go. Compare:

We've been to Russia. = We went to Russia and came back.
We've gone to Russia. = We went to Russia and we are in Russia now.

6. Find and correct the mistakes in the sentences.

1) I haven't ~~go~~ to Egypt. been

Hi, Tom!

Hope you're doing well. We've arrived in California, and it's great! We're staying in a big hotel. I've never stayed in a hotel before – I love it!

The weather has been wonderful so we've spent hours on the beach. The water is so warm! My dad has been surfing and I've just tried scuba diving for the first time in my life. It's amazing! I haven't tried surfing yet, but I want to.

Marcus has had a great time too. You know he's crazy about horses and he's already taken a horse-riding lesson here.

Well, it's time for dinner. My parents are waiting for me. See you soon.

Love Lucas.

XOXO

1. b) Underline Present Perfect verbs in the postcard. Write the verbs in the correct place in the table.

Regular verbs	Irregular verbs have arrived

2. Look at the postcard again and choose the best variant in the sentences below.

- Lucas uses the Present Perfect to describe his holiday activities because he is still on holiday / his holiday has finished.
- In the Present Perfect, we use have / has + past participle with I / you / we and they.
- In the Present Perfect, we use have / has + past participle with he / she and it.
- Regular / Irregular past participles have the same form as the regular Past Simple.

(+)	I / You / We / They + 've (or have) + past participle (verb III) I / You / We / They've been to America. I / You / We / They've taken a horse-riding lesson. He / She / It +'s (or has) + past participle (verb III) He / She / It's been to America. He / She / It's taken a horse-riding lesson.

Aigul: Tom, are you coming to dinner tomorrow?
Tom: Yes, but…
Aigul: What's wrong? Have you got other plans for tomorrow?
Tom: No, no. I'd love to come but I'm a little bit nervous about tomorrow's dinner because I don't know what I have to do. For example, do I have to shake hands when I meet your father and brother?
Aigul: Yes, you do. In our country men usually shake hands with each other.
Tom: OK. Do I have to bring a present?
Aigul: No, you don't. Guests bring presents on special occasions. We're inviting you to show our custom and hospitality.
Tom: OK. I heard that you have to take off your shoes when you enter someone's house.
Aigul: Yes, that's right. All of us have to take off our shoes at the entrance. Also, tomorrow we're going to sit on the floor around a cloth for food called 'dastorkon'. We're going to make our national food, beshbarmak and boorsok.
Tom: Are there any rules at the table?
Aigul: We have to eat or offer food with our right hand.
Tom: Oh, I'm left-handed.
Aigul: Don't worry. You don't have to eat with your right hand. Also, we usually open our hands and say a few words of prayer at the end of a meal and then we bring them together. You don't have to follow this custom.

c) What do you know about this tradition?

3. Read the text. Compare your answers with the text.

In Kyrgyz culture many traditions are connected with the birth of a child. One of these traditions is laying a baby into beshik, a wooden cradle. Beshik is made from archa (juniper) or fir tree. Parents organize a ceremonial feast, beshik toi, when the baby is placed in the cradle for the first time. On this occasion, the baby's parents lay the table with delicious national dishes and invite relatives, neighbours and friends to the feast. After the guests have a meal, they give their blessings to a newborn baby.

The most interesting part of the celebration is a cradle custom. Parents of a baby's mother should bring beshik with all the necessary things. Respectable elderly women burn up the juniper and move the burning juniper around the beshik to drive away evil spirits from it. Then the beshik is greased with butter to make the baby's future life smooth as butter and successful. After the child is laid into the beshik, the mother should take it and walk to the doorstep and back bowing to the guests. They give their blessings to a newborn baby and his / her mother. Finally, a cradlesong is sung by the mother.

4. Read the text again. Answer the questions.

a) What preparation do parents of a baby make to organize beshik toi?
b) What's the most interesting part of the celebration?
c) What do elderly women do to prepare beshik for a baby? Why do they do all these customs?

Kyrgyzstan is a country where there are a lot of customs and traditions. Tushoo kesuu is a Kyrgyz tradition which is popular in our country. Parents who have one-year old child organize a big toi. A toi is a party where people get together in a person's home to celebrate a special occasion. The child's parents make a toi to wish him happiness, luck, good health and a bright future. They invite their relatives, neighbors and friends who bring presents to the child.

First, the guests have a meal and give "bata." "Bata" is a blessing which asks the God to protect the child all his life. Then the guests watch the race competition for children. The child's parents tie up his legs with a white and black striped wool rope. The children run from a certain distance. The first winner has the right to cut the rope with the knife specially prepared for this occasion. He and the second winner walk with the child taking him by his arms. The first winner usually gets an expensive present and the knife with which he has cut the rope. The other participants also get presents, for example, toys and sweets.

Unit 17

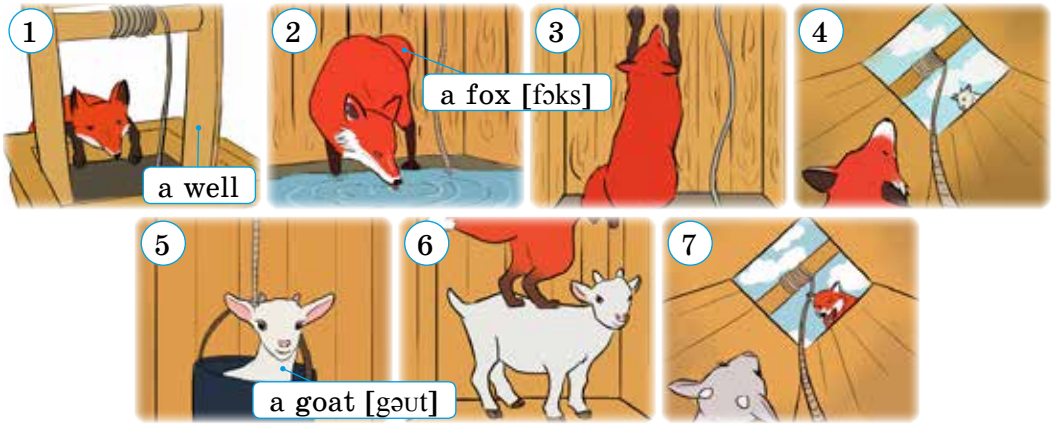
17A Fables — Lessons 162–163

1. What is a fable? Read the paragraph and find the answer.

A fable is a short story that teaches a lesson about something.

Fables are about animals, plants or natural things like wind, stars or the sun that can talk and act like people. Fables give people chance to laugh at some silly things that people do.

2. a) The pictures below come from one fable. Look at the pictures. What do you think the fable is about? Tell your classmates. Are your fables the same?



3. Read the fable and compare it with your variant. What are the differences?

The Fox And The Goat

Once a Fox was walking in the countryside and noticed a well. The Fox was very thirsty. He tried to get some water to drink but, unfortunately, fell into the well. He tried to come out but he couldn't. So, he had no choice but to stay there till the next morning.

The next day, a Goat came that way. The Goat was thirsty too. Then she noticed a well. She came closer and looked into it. The Goat saw the Fox and thought that he got down the well to drink. The goat asked, "Is the water good?"

"Good?" asked the Fox. "It's the best water I have ever drunk! Come down here and try it yourself. There's enough water for both of us."

The Goat thoughtlessly jumped into the well. When she finished drinking, she tried to get out but she couldn't.

Then the fox said, "I have an idea. If you stand on your hind legs and put your forelegs on the wall, I'll climb onto your back, then onto your head and get out. Then I'll help you out too."

The Goat did everything that the Fox said. The Fox climbed quickly onto the Goat's back, then onto her head and then out of the well. When the Fox was out, he went away to the forest.

The Goat loudly called after him and asked for help. The Fox turned around and cried out, "If you had as many brains in your head as you have hair in your beard, you would never have got in before you saw how to get out again!"

4. What is the moral of this fable? Tell your partner.

Does he sleep? Does she sleep? Does it sleep?	Yes, he does. Yes, she does. Yes, it does.	No, he doesn't. No, she doesn't. No, it doesn't.

Unit 4A

Love / like / don't mind / hate love / like / don't mind / hate + < plural noun, verb + -ing

Present Simple: he and she

She loves apples. She doesn't like computer games.
He hates cold weather. He doesn't mind sweeping the floor.

Unit 4B

Adverbs of frequency

I	Adverbs always usually often sometimes hardly ever never	have breakfast.	100% ▼ 0%

Word order

		Adverb	Verb
I		never	go	to the nightclubs.
What time do you		usually	finish	your classes?
Do you		ever	sleep	during the day?
	To be	Adverb
I	am	never	lazy.
He	is	always	angry.
They	are	usually	tired after work.

Adverbs of frequency go before the verb.

Adverbs of frequency go after be. NOT ~~They always are tired~~.

Unit 4D

Direct / Indirect object

Some common verbs can have two objects – direct object and indirect object. There are two possible word orders, but the meaning is the same.

subject + verb + person + thing = subject + verb + thing + to / for + person

(indirect object) (direct object) (direct object) (indirect object)

Bakyt is writing Anara a letter. = Bakyt is writing a letter to Anara.
They bought us a cake. = They bought a cake for us.

Remember the verbs for subject + verb + person + thing: give, lend, offer, pass, read, send, show, teach, tell.

Remember the verbs for subject + verb + thing + to / for + person: buy, find, get, make.

Never use verb + person + thing with these verbs: describe, say, explain or suggest.
He described his new flat to us. (NOT ~~He described us his new flat~~.)

Units 5A, B, C

Articles: a / an, the and zero article (∅)

Definite article the	Zero article (∅)
Use the with the names of oceans, seas and rivers. Use the with the names of deserts and forests. Use the with the names of a group of mountains, hills and islands. Use the with the names of the countries with the words States, Kingdom, Republic	Use (∅) with the names of lakes. Use (∅) with the names of single mountains, hills and islands. We use (∅) with the names of the continents and regions of the world. We use (∅) with the names of the countries. We use (∅) with the names of the cities. We use (∅) with the people's names.

We use zero article (∅) when we talk about people or things in general.

We use the when we know or can see which thing we're talking about.

We use the when we mention something again.

We use a / an when we mention something for the first time.

Unit 5D

Articles: a / an, the and zero article (∅)

Rules	Examples
1) We often use a / an + noun when we want to say what sb / sth is like.	What a beautiful picture! Picasso is a great painter.
2) We use the in front of nationality nouns to refer to "all the people in general."	The Chinese eat food with chopsticks.
3) We use the in front of the superlative adjectives.	Bishkek is one of the greenest cities in Central Asia.
4) We use zero article (∅) with meals: have breakfast / lunch / dinner; before / after / for breakfast	For breakfast I usually have cereals.

Unit 6A

Past Simple: positive

I You He She It We You They	worked.	Use the past simple for the action that happened in the past. Spelling rules: • Most verbs: watch + -ed → watched • Verbs ending in -e: live + -d → lived • Verbs ending in a consonant and -y: study -y → → -ied → studied • Verbs ending in a vowel and -y: play -y → -yed → → played • Verbs ending in a short vowel and a consonant: double consonant + -ed: plan → planned

Unit 6B

Past Simple: negative (–)

I / we you he / she / it / they	didn't (= did not) work yesterday.

Unit 6C

Past simple: questions (?)

Question form
Did I / you / he / she / it / we / they	sleep well today? work well yesterday?
Short answers
Yes, I / you / he / she / it / we / they	did.
No, I / you / he / she / it / we / they	didn't.

In questions we put Did before the subject.
Did you go shopping? (NOT ~~You went shopping~~)

Did + subject + verb

Don't use Did with be.
Were you tired after school? (NOT ~~Did you be tired after school?~~)

Past simple: special questions

What Who Where When What time Why How	did	you Farhat she they	do last Saturday? send the message? live at Issyk-Kul? have holidays go home? leave early? get to school?

Unit 6D

Adjectives ending in -ed or -ing

Adjectives ending in -ed describe how people feel.	I'm interested in Geography. I'm confused with the rules.
Adjectives ending in -ing describe a situation or people.	Geography is an interesting subject. The rules are confusing.

Unit 7A

Too / very

These boxes are very heavy.

very heavy – it is difficult but possible to lift the boxes.

These boxes are too heavy.

too heavy – it is impossible to lift the boxes.

We use very to say that something is more than we need, but it's OK.

We use too to say that something is more than we need and we don't like it.

We use too + adjective / verb

We use very + adjective / verb

Unit 7C

Comparative and Superlative Forms of Adjectives

	Adjective	Comparative	Superlative
Short adjectives (one-syllable)	old new	+ er = older (than) + er = newer (than)	+ est = the oldest + est = the newest
Short adjectives ending -e	safe nice	+ r = safer (than) + r = nicer (than)	+ st = the safest + st = the nicest

	Adjective	Comparative	Superlative
Adjectives ending vowel-consonant-vowel	big fat slim	+ ger = bigger (than) + ter = fatter (than) + mer = slimmer (than)	+ gest = the biggest + test = the fattest + mest = the slimmest
Adjectives ending -y	easy lazy	+ ier = easier (than) + ier = lazier (than)	+ iest = easiest + iest = laziest
Long adjectives (two and more syllables)	modern beautiful	more modern (than) more beautiful (than)	the most modern the most beautiful good bad little many / much far	better (than) worse (than) less (than) more (than) farther / further (than)	the best the worst the least the most the farthest / the furthest

Use comparative adjectives to compare people / things.
Russia is bigger than Italy.

Use superlative adjectives to compare people / things with ALL other people / things in their group.
Russia is the biggest country in the world.

Don't forget to use the before the superlative forms.
The smallest / the youngest

Use as + adjective + as to show that there is no difference between the objects or things.
Ann is as tall as Sam. / My hair is as long as your hair.

Unit 8D

Past Continuous

Past Continuous: subject + was / were + verb + ing
(+) singular forms	(+) plural forms
I, He, She, It → was working	You, We, They → were working
Use the past continuous to describe an action in progress at a specific moment in the past. Yesterday at six o'clock my father was driving home. Last summer I was staying with my relatives in Osh.
Past Simple or Past Continuous?
While I was watching TV, my mom came home. I was drinking tea when I heard somebody's voice.
Use the past simple for a finished action in the past: My mom came. / I heard somebody's voice. Use the past continuous for an action in progress: I was watching TV. / I was drinking tea. Use While + Past Continuous

(?) singular forms	short answers
Was [wəz] → I, He, She, It → working at 5 o'clock?	(+) Yes, I / he / she / it was. [wɔz] (–) No, I / he / she / it wasn't. [wɒznt]
(?) plural forms	short answers
Were [wə] → You, We, They → working at 5 o'clock?	(+) Yes, you / we / they were. [wɜ:] (–) No, you / we / they weren't. [wɜ:nt]

(–) singular forms	(–) plural forms
I He She It → wasn't working [wɒz(ə)nt] at 5 o'clock?	You We They → weren't working [wɜ:nt] at 5 o'clock?

Unit 9B

Can

You use can to talk about the things which are possible.

Positive (+)	Negative (–)
I You He She It We They → can become rich.	I You He She It We They → can't become rich. (cannot)
Question	Short answers
Can I / You / He / She / It / We / They become rich?	– Yes, I / you / he / she / it / we / they can. – No, I / you / he / she / it / we / they can't.

You put can before the subject in questions.

Can you write with this marker? (NOT ~~You can write with this marker?~~)

Can + infinitive without to

You can stop here. (NOT ~~You can to stop here.~~)

Unit 9C

Imperative sentences

An imperative sentence gives a command. It usually ends in a full stop (.), but you can also use an exclamation mark ***(!).

Commands ask or tell people to do something.

Please, close the door.
Don't touch my phone!

These two sentences are commands. The first sentence is more polite than the second one because there is the word please here. But both of them are commands because they ask or tell people what to do.

In imperative sentences we don't say you:
Help your parents. NOT ~~You help your parents~~.

In imperative sentences we don't use the verb with to:
Don't speak. NOT ~~Don't to speak~~.

In imperative sentences we don't use the verb with -ing ending:
Don't run in the corridors. NOT ~~Don't running in the corridors~~.

Unit 9D

Zero conditional

We use Zero Conditional when we talk about things that always happen in certain conditions, for example, scientific truth or personal truth. The main action is an automatic result of the if-clause.

When does it happen in time?	conjunction	condition (if-clause) present simple / present continuous	result / effect (main clause) present simple / imperative
Always	If	you heat ice,	it melts and turns into water.
	If	it rains,	the grass becomes wet.
	When	I play tennis with Ann,	I always win.
		When I am sleeping,	don't disturb me.

We can sometimes use when instead of if.

The if-clause can come before or after the main clause.

If if-clause comes after the main clause, we don't use a comma.

Unit 10B

Will for unplanned actions in future

(+) Positive	(−) Negative
I / You / He / She / It / We / They'll (will) stop pollution.	I / You / He / She / It / We / They won't (will not) stop pollution.
(?) Question	Short answers
Will I / you / he / she / it / we / they stop pollution?	Yes, I / you / he / she / it / we / they will. No, I / you / he / she / it / we / they won't.

Will is a modal verb. You can use will to talk about the future when there is no present plan or intention.

We usually use the short form of will = 'll in positive sentences and won't [wəunt] (will not) in negative.

We use will / won't + infinitive. Don't use "to".
We'll save the planet (NOT ~~We'll to save the planet~~.)

Unit 10D

May, might, will, definitely / probably, etc., for making predictions

I You He She It We They	will definitely	stay at home. (= you are sure this will happen)
	will probably	stay at home. (= you are less sure) may (not) / might (not)	stay at home. (= you think it's possible)
	probably won't	stay at home. (= you think it's less possible)
	definitely won't	stay at home. (= you are sure this will never happen)

Notice that we use definitely and probably after will but before won't.
I'll definitely go there. NOT ~~I definitely will go there~~.
I probably won't go there. NOT ~~I won't probably go there~~.

Unit 11A

Infinitive of purpose

We use the infinitive (to / not to + verb) to say why a person does / doesn't do something.

Some farmers raise animals to sell. (= Some farmers raise animals because they want to sell them.)
I take Vitamin C not to catch a cold. (= I take Vitamin C because I don't want to catch a cold)

NOT ~~I study hard for to pass an exam~~. ~~I study hard for pass an exam~~.
NOT ~~I take Vitamin C to not catch a cold~~. ~~I take Vitamin C not catch a cold~~.

Unit 11C

Plural form of nouns

Rules	Examples
1) Most nouns add -s	a cow – cows, a goat – goats
2) Nouns ending in -ch, -sh, -s, -x, -z add -es	a box – boxes, a match – matches
3) Nouns ending in consonant + y add -ies	a puppy – puppies
4) Nouns ending in vowel +y add -s	a donkey – donkeys
5) Nouns ending in -f / -fe change to -ves	a calf – calves, a wife – wives
6) Some nouns ending in -o add -es	a potato – potatoes, a tomato – tomatoes But: a photo – photos, a piano – pianos

Rules	Examples
7) Irregular nouns	a goose – geese a child – children a person – people a man – men a woman – women	a sheep – sheep a mouse – mice a fish – fish a foot – feet a tooth – teeth

Unit 11D

Future hopes and plans

Use be going to for a future plan that is going to happen.
I'm going to visit my aunt.*

Use want, would like ('d like) and hope to talk about future hopes that aren't definite.
He wants to go to the UK.
They'd like to invite us for their wedding.*
I hope to be rich some day.

Unit 12A

How much / many, a lot, quite a lot, not much / many, none

Uncountable (singular)	Full answers	Short answers
How much bread should I buy?	You should buy a lot of bread. You should buy quite a lot of bread. You shouldn't buy much bread. You shouldn't buy any bread?	A lot. Quite a lot. Not much. None.
Countable (plural)	Full answers	Short answers
How many apples should I buy?	You should buy a lot of apples. You should buy quite a lot of apples. You shouldn't buy many apples. You shouldn't buy any apples.	A lot. Quite a lot. Not many. None.

We use a lot (of) in positive sentences.
(+) There a lot of charity organizations in the world.

We use much / many in negative sentences and questions.
(?) Were there many people at the party? Is there much unemployment in your country?

Unit 12B

Would like vs. like

(+) I / you / he / she / we / they'd like (= would like) to listen to music.

(–) I / you / he / she / we / they wouldn't like (= would not) to go out this evening.

(?) – Would you like to go to the museum?
– Yes, that's a good idea. ✓
– Well, I'd like to, but I have to study. ✗
– Would you like an apple?
– Yes, please. ✓
– No, thank you. ✗

like + V ing	We use like to talk about always. I like swimming. (I like it in general) would like + to + V	We use would like to talk about now or a time in the future. I'd like to swim. (I want to swim now or in the future)
Would like is a polite way of saying "want". I'd like a cup of coffee, please.*	We use Would you like + to + Verb ...? for invitation. Would you like to watch TV?
	We use Would you like + Noun ...? for offering things. Would you like a sandwich?

Unit 12C

Will for spontaneous decision

Will expresses a spontaneous decision that you make at the moment of speaking.

'll = will won't = will not

– The telephone is ringing.
– OK. I'll answer it.

Unit 12D

A little, little, a few or few few – little / a few – a little = a small quantity; a small amount few + plural countable nouns = not many; not enough; nearly no ...

a few + plural countable nouns = some; a small amount little + uncountable nouns = not much; not enough; nearly no ...

a little + uncountable nouns = some; a small amount

A few = some (a small amount) (a few normally has a positive meaning) A few friends came to my party. I'm happy a few people came. (positive idea – a small amount)	A little = some (a small amount) (a little normally has a positive meaning) She has a little for breakfast. (She has a small quantity of food for breakfast)
Few = not many (few has a negative meaning) Few friends came to my party. I'm not happy because not many people came. (negative idea – not enough)	Little = not much (little normally has a negative meaning) She has little for breakfast. (negative idea – she doesn't eat enough for breakfast).

Few and little usually have negative meanings, especially when used with very.

The party was awful. Very few people came to the party.
There was very little time to finish it.

Unit 13A

If-clause to talk about future predictions (1st Conditional)

When you are talking about the future, you use will + infinitive in the main clause but you use a present simple tense in the subordinate clause after if and when.

You can use two sentence formations.

Conjunction	Subordinate clause	Main clause
If	the weather is fine,	we'll go swimming.
When	she gets home after school,	she'll do the homework.

Main clause	Conjunction	Subordinate clause
We'll go swimming	if	the weather is fine.
She'll do the homework	when	she gets home after school.

You use when to say that you are sure that one action will follow another action.

You use if to say that it is possible that one action will follow another action.

Put comma (,) when you use Subordinate clause + Main clause.

Don't put comma (,) when you use Main clause + Subordinate clause.

Unit 13B

If-clause to talk about future recommendations and advice

When you are talking about the future advice or recommendation, you use Imperative in the main clause but you use a present simple tense in the subordinate clause after if and when.

You can use two sentence formations.

	+	Subordinate clause (condition)	+	Main clause
If	+	you are lost,	+	you need to ask for help.

	+	Subordinate clause (condition)	+	Main clause
If	+	an adult asks you to disobey your parents,	+	stop talking to this person!
When		you see something dangerous,		don't be afraid to tell your parents about it.

Main clause	Conjunction	Subordinate clause
Remember the safety rule	if when	you are in a dangerous situation.

Put comma (,) when you use Subordinate clause + Main clause.

Don't put comma (,) when you use Main clause + Subordinate clause.

Unit 13C

Reflexive pronouns: myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves

Use	Example	Notes
When the object of a sentence is the same as the subject.	He hurt himself. They enjoyed themselves.	Don't use reflexive pronouns with the verbs of everyday actions: wash, shave, dress.
After by = alone	He lives by himself. I go for a walk by myself.

Each other

Use	Example	Notes
With we, you and they, when A does something to B and B does the same to A.	We don't speak to each other. They love each other.	Compare: They looked at each other. (A looked at B and B looked at A) They looked at themselves in the mirror. (A looked at A and B looked at B)

Unit 14A

Present Continuous (+) (–)

Positive (+)
Full form	Contraction	V + -ing
I am you are he / she / it is we are they are	I'm you're he / she / it's we're they're	working. laughing.

Negative (–)
Full form	Contraction	V + -ing
I am not you are not he / she / it is not we are not they are not	I'm not you aren't he / she / it isn't we aren't they aren't	working. laughing.

We use the present continuous to talk about actions that are happening now.

Present Continuous (?)

Question word	Verb be	Verb + -ing	✓		✕
What Where How Why	am I are you is he / she / it are we are they	doing? writing? working?	Yes,	I am. you are. he / she / it is. we are. they are.	No,	I'm not. you aren't. he / she / it isn't. we aren't. they aren't.

Unit 14B

Present Simple vs Present Continuous

Present Simple	Present Continuous
Use the Present Simple for routine actions. Every day I play chess.	Use the Present Continuous for actions which are happening now. I'm playing chess now.
Use the following time phrases in the Present Simple: always, usually, often, sometimes, hardly ever, never, every day	Use the following time phrases in the Present Continuous: now, at the moment, today

Indefinite pronouns: somebody / someone, something, somewhere, anybody / anyone, anything and anywhere.

Person	Place	Thing
someone / somebody	somewhere	something anyone / anybody	anywhere	somewhere

Indefinite pronouns do not refer to a specific person, place, or thing. We use pronouns ending in *-body or *-one for people, pronouns ending in *-thing for things, and pronouns ending in *-where for places:

Rules	Examples
We use somebody / someone, something and somewhere in positive sentences.	I've got something for you. She wants to go somewhere hot.
We use anybody / anyone, anything, and anywhere in negative sentences and questions.	He didn't speak to anyone. Is anybody at home? I don't want to go anywhere expensive. Do you want anything else?
We use indefinite pronouns with a singular verb.	Is there anything to eat?
*-body and *-one mean the same. The forms with *-body are a little more informal.	Somebody wants to meet you. (= Someone wants to meet you.)

Rules	Examples
We never use a preposition before indefinite pronouns with -where.	She is hiding in the house. – She is hiding somewhere. Are you going to school? – Are you going anywhere?

Unit 14C

Present Simple vs Present Continuous

We don't use the Present Continuous with the following verbs:
like, love, hate, prefer, understand, hope, think, believe, need, smell, know, want

I love sports. NOT ~~I'm loving sports~~.
He wants to have dinner now. NOT ~~He's wanting to have dinner now~~.

Indefinite pronouns: everybody / everyone, everything, everywhere, nobody / no one, nothing, nowhere

	Person	Place	Thing
All	everyone everybody	everywhere	everything
None	no one nobody	nowhere	nothing

Rules	Examples
We use everybody / everyone, everything and everywhere to refer to all people, things or places.	Everybody came to the party. = All the people came to the party. I looked for it everywhere = I looked for it in all the places.
We use nobody / no one, nothing and nowhere in positive sentences, but they have negative meanings.	Nobody knows where it is. They knew nothing about the accident. They went nowhere on holiday.
The verb is always singular.	Everything was quiet. Everybody needs somebody. There's rubbish everywhere.

We use indefinite pronouns with no- as the subject in negative clauses (not pronouns with any.)
~~Anybody didn't come~~ → Nobody came.

Unit 14D

Present Continuous for future arrangement

We use the Present Continuous to talk about what we have arranged to do in the future.

I am watching TV tonight. (It's my definite plan.)
My sister is seeing the dentist tomorrow morning. (She has arranged the time and place.)

When we use the Present Continuous like this, we either give a future time (for example, this weekend, tonight, tomorrow, this weekend, next week / month / year) or we know from the situation that we are talking about the future.

Unit 15B, C, D

Present Perfect

Form the Present Perfect with have / has + past participle

	I / You / We / They	He / She / It
(+)	've (have) + past participle I / You / We / They → 've (have) ridden a horse.	's (has) + past participle He / She / It → 's (has) been to America
(–)	haven't (have not) + past participle I / You / We / They → haven't (have not) ridden a horse.	hasn't (has not) + past participle He / She / It → hasn't (has not) been to America.

	I / You / We / They	He / She / It
(–)	have + never + past participle I / You / We / They → have never ridden a horse.	has + never + past participle He / She / It → has never been to America
(?)	Have + I / you / we / they + ever + past participle Have I / you / we / they ever ridden a horse?	Have + he / she / it + ever + past participle Has he / she / it ever been to America?
	Yes, I / you / we / they have. No, I / you / we / they haven't.	Yes, he / she / it has. No, he / she / it hasn't.

Use the Present Perfect to talk about actions in the past when:

- We are talking about any time up to now: Have you ever been to China?
- We don't say when the action happened: I've seen a tiger in wild.
- It is still possible to do / repeat an action (because the time is still continuing): He's written a poem. (He can write another poem, because he is still alive.)

We often use the Present Perfect with ever / never to talk about experiences at any time up to now:
Have you ever done ironing? No, I've never done housework.

We use the Present Perfect with for to talk about an action that continues from the past to the present:
They have lived in Bishkek for ten years.

We use the past simple with for to talk about a past action in a period of time which is finished:
They lived in Bishkek for ten years and then moved to Moscow.

Notice the two questions with How long?
How long have Aigul and Tom known each other?
How long was Aigul in a usual school?

We often use just, never and already with the Present Perfect. These words come between have and the past participle:
I've just tried scuba diving.
He's already taken a horse-riding lesson here.
I've never stayed in a hotel before.

Use the word yet at the end of the sentence:
I haven't tried surfing yet.

We usually use the contracted forms:
I've been to Naryn. She's travelled a lot.

The past participle of regular verbs is the same as the regular Past Simple form

Infinitive	Past simple	Past participle
stay arrive	stayed arrived	stayed arrived

There are a lot of irregular past participles. Some of them are the same as the Past Simple form.

Infinitive	Past simple	Past participle
buy bring	bought brought	bought brought

But many of them are different from the Past Simple form.

Infinitive	Past simple	Past participle
do write	did wrote	done written

Unit 16A

Must / mustn't

In positive sentences, we use must to talk about rules. It means "This is necessary."
I / you / he / she / we / they must be kind to others.

We use mustn't (must not) to say that something is against the rules. It means "Don't do this."
You mustn't eat in class. (= Don't eat in class.)

Unit 16B

Have to

(+) I / you / we / they + have to + Verb He / she / it + has to + Verb	I have to help my mother with the cooking. He has to make his bed.
(–) I / you / we / they + don't have to + Verb He / she / it + doesn't have to + Verb	You don't have to do that, Japar. I'll do it later.

We use don't have to to say something is not necessary.

Unit 16C

Passive with the Present Simple

Positive sentence
I You / we / they He / she / it	am are is	Past participle
Negative sentence
I You / we / they He / she / it	am not aren't isn't	Past participle
Question
Am Are Is	I you / we / they he / she / it	Past participle

Yes,		No,
I You / we / they He / she / it	am. are. is.	I You / we / they He / she / it	am not. aren't. isn't.

We use the passive when the person who does the action is:

Not important

Beshik is made from archa or fir tree. (= it's not important who makes it)

Unknown

Hundreds of cars are stolen every week. (= we don't know who steals them)

People in general

He's known all over the world. (=people in general know him)

If we want to say who or what is the doer of the action, we use by.

A cradlesong is sung by a mother.

Unit 16D

Defining relative clause

A cook is a person who / that cooks. A gift is a thing which / that you give to somebody, especially on a special occasion. A garden is a piece of land next to or around your house where you can grow flowers, fruit and vegetables.	We use relative clauses to explain what a place, thing, or person is or does. We use who for a person, which for a thing, where for a place, that for a person and a thing.
That girl is my classmate. She speaks English fluently.	The girl who speaks English fluently is my classmate.
The ruler is on the table. You bought it.	The ruler which you bought is on the table.
This is the cafe. We had lunch there yesterday.	This is the cafe where we had lunch.
