My holiday plans

I'm going to go on holiday to Canada with my parents. It's winter in Canada now, and it's very cold. We're going to (1) stay in a nice hotel to keep warm.

There is ice on the lakes, so I'm going to skate. I enjoy skating. There is also a lot of snow in Canada. I like the snow. I'm going to (2) make a very big snowman, but I'm not going to (3) throw snowballs at my dad. He doesn't like snowballs.

I'm going to (4) ride on a sledge. It hasn't got wheels but it can move quickly on snow. I'm not going to ski because I don't like skiing, but I'm going to (5) try snowboarding.

We are going to (6) watch animals in the countryside, too. I want to see some bears! There are bears with black fur, bears with brown fur and bears with white fur in Canada.

I think we're going to have a wonderful holiday!

3. What is different about the building on page 37?

2. Read the text. Answer the questions.

4.15 Hello! I'm Meyhuee and I live in Harbin, in the north of China. Harbin has hot summers and long, cold winters with a lot of ice. People call Harbin 'Ice City'. Every year in January, we have the Harbin International Ice and Snow Sculpture Festival. It's a lot of fun. At the festival, people can ride on a sledge, go ice skating or build a snowman.

There are competitions at the festival, with prizes for the best ice sculptures. In the competition, people make things from ice. They make ice animals, ice monsters and ice people. They also make ice roads and ice bridges. You can see ice sculptures of famous buildings from all over the world. At night, coloured lamps light up the ice buildings. They look wonderful.

1. Where is Harbin?
2. What is another name for Harbin?
3. When is the the Harbin International Ice and Snow Sculpture Festival?
4. What six things do people make from ice in the ice sculpture competition?
5. Why do the ice buildings look wonderful at night?

3. Read and complete the sentences.

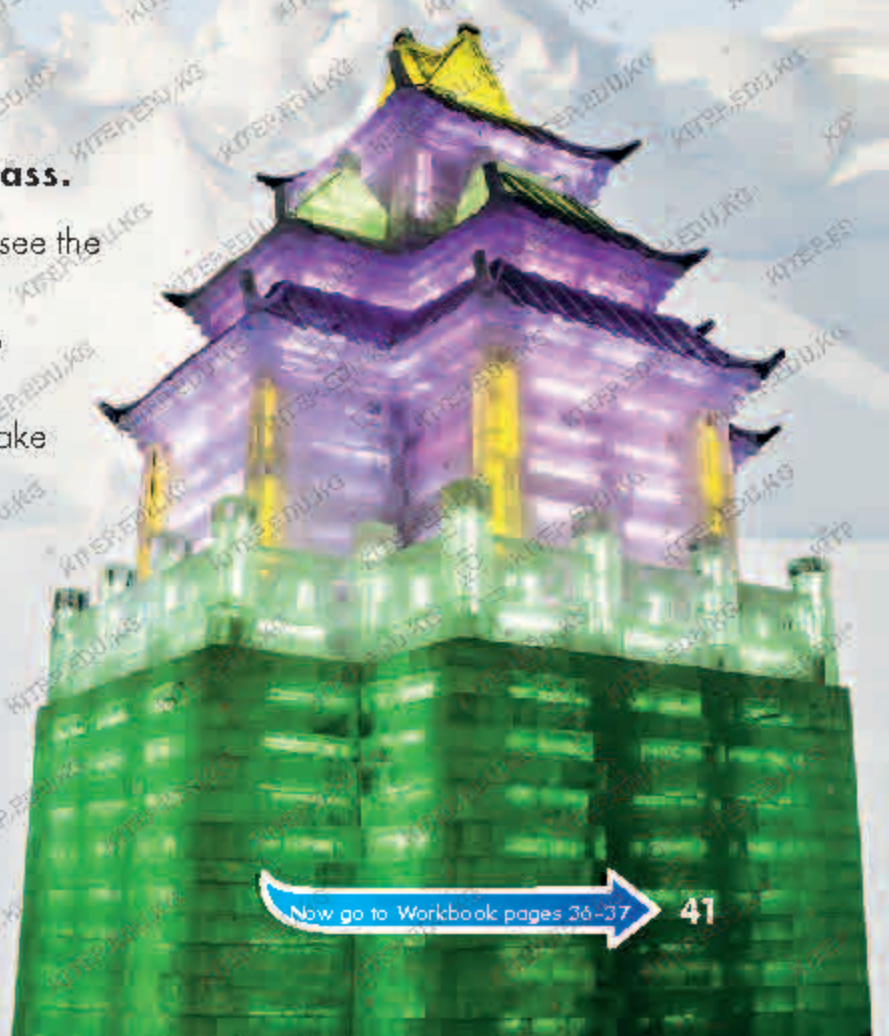

414 The ice for the Harbin International Ice and Snow Sculpture Festival comes from the Songhua River. The river freezes in the winter, and the ice is one metre deep. People cut the ice into big blocks and use them to make sculptures for the festival. More than 7,000 people work together to build 'ice parks' for the festival.

The festival goes on for about a month. In February, the weather starts to get warmer and the sculptures start to melt. People often help to break up the sculptures. Last year, I helped, too!

1. People use ice from the Songhua River for the Harbin International Ice and Snow Sculpture Festival.
2. People use big blocks of ice to make _____ for the festival.
3. In February, the ice sculptures start to _____.
4. When the festival is over, people _____ up the sculptures.

4. Talk to a friend. Then tell the class.

1. Would you like to visit Harbin and see the ice sculptures? Why?
2. Why do you think people break up the sculptures?
3. Do you think it is a good idea to make sculptures from ice? Why?
4. Are there any festivals in your town? What are the names of the festivals?
5. Why do you think people have festivals?

1. Look at the photo of the building. Answer the questions.

1. Have you seen this building before?
2. Where do you think it is?
3. What do you think it is?

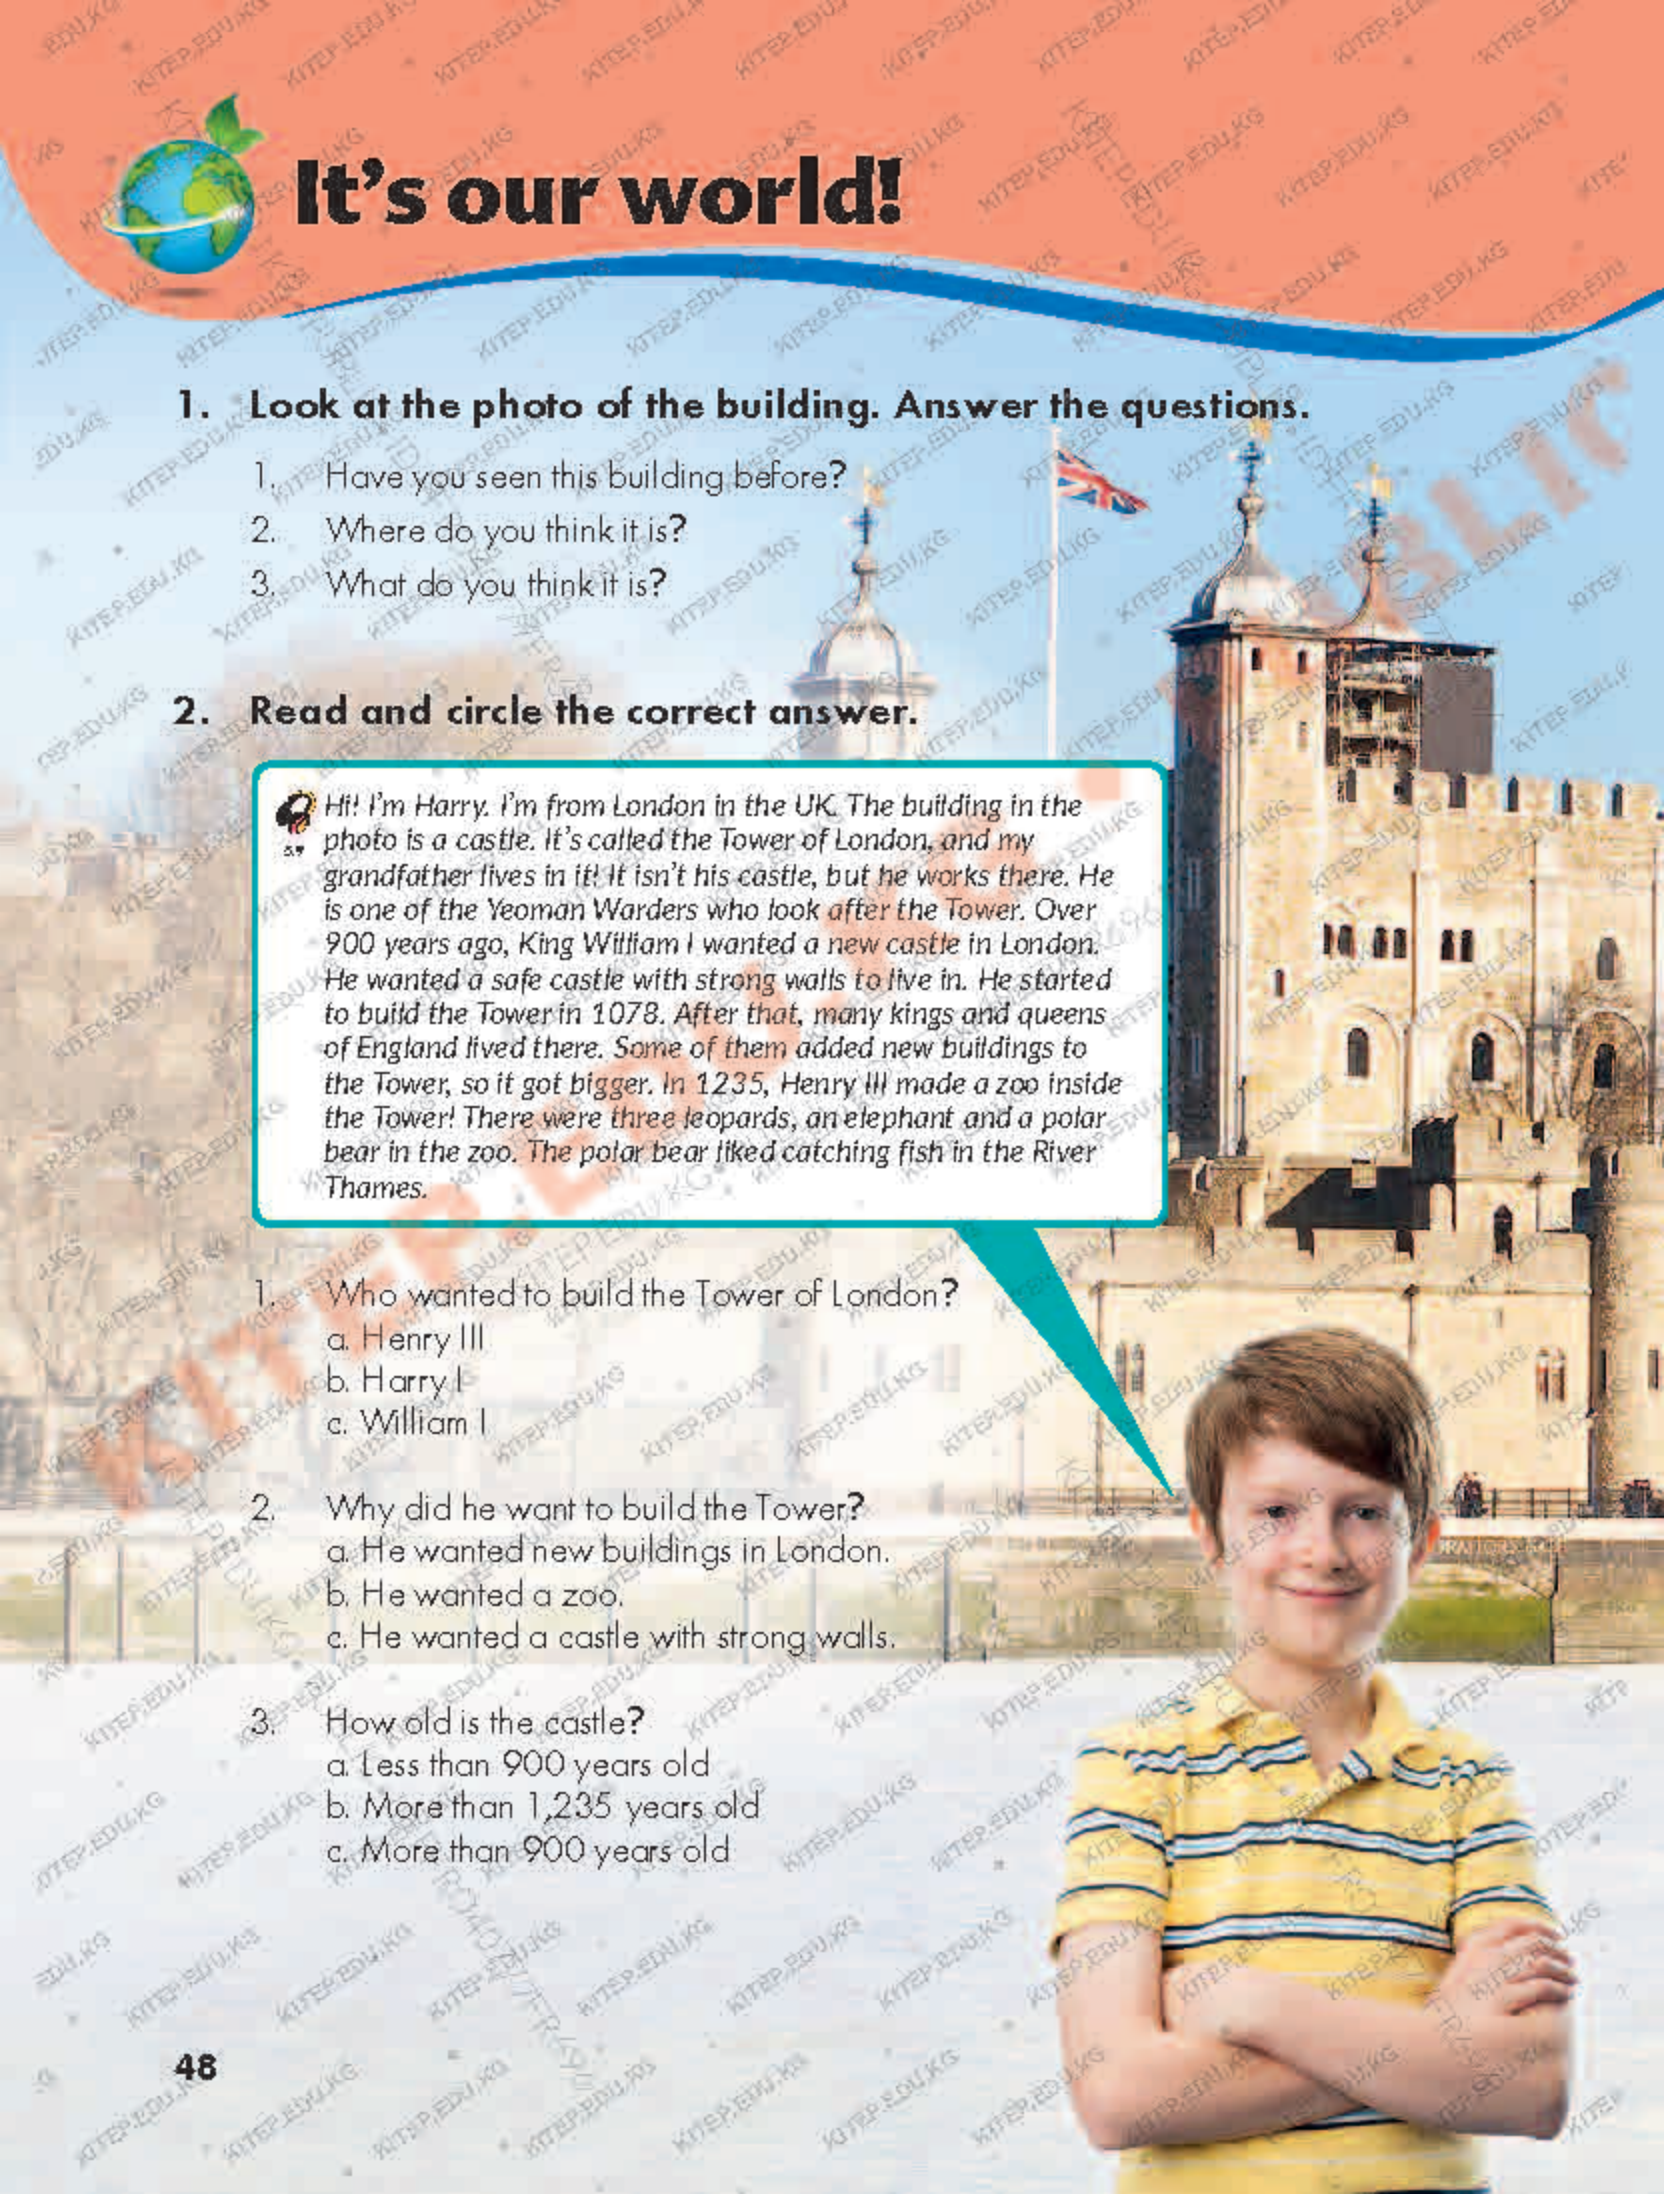

2. Read and circle the correct answer.

Hi! I'm Harry. I'm from London in the UK. The building in the photo is a castle. It's called the Tower of London, and my grandfather lives in it! It isn't his castle, but he works there. He is one of the Yeoman Warders who look after the Tower. Over 900 years ago, King William I wanted a new castle in London. He wanted a safe castle with strong walls to live in. He started to build the Tower in 1078. After that, many kings and queens of England lived there. Some of them added new buildings to the Tower, so it got bigger. In 1235, Henry III made a zoo inside the Tower! There were three leopards, an elephant and a polar bear in the zoo. The polar bear liked catching fish in the River Thames.

1. Who wanted to build the Tower of London?
   a. Henry III
   b. Harry I
   c. William I

2. Why did he want to build the Tower?
   a. He wanted new buildings in London.
   b. He wanted a zoo.
   c. He wanted a castle with strong walls.

3. How old is the castle?
   a. Less than 900 years old
   b. More than 1,235 years old
   c. More than 900 years old

3. Read the text. Answer the questions.

5.10 Today, the royal family doesn't live in the Tower of London, and anyone can visit it with a ticket. My family and I visited the Tower last month, and I enjoyed looking at the old buildings and seeing the Crown Jewels.
The Yeoman Warders live inside the Tower. They look after the buildings and the jewels. They show people all the interesting things in the Tower and help them when they are lost.

Visitors like seeing the Yeoman Warders in their uniforms. The Warders have two uniforms. They wear a dark blue-and-red uniform on most days. On days when the king or the queen visits, they wear a red-and-gold uniform. It is the same uniform that the Yeoman Warders wore more than 400 years ago. It is very heavy, but it looks great!

1. Who can visit the Tower of London today?
2. Who helps people when they are lost in the Tower?
3. What colours do the Yeoman Warders wear when the king or the queen visits?
4. Does Harry like this uniform? How do you know?

This boy's parents haven't put the medicine in a cupboard. He might take the medicine by mistake and make himself ill. 2

These people have not tidied the rubbish in their garden. The cat might cut itself on the broken glass. ☐

Someone has left matches on a shelf. The boy might play with the matches. He might burn his fingers or start a fire by accident. ☐

This girl's parents have put some bags of shopping on the floor. The girl might run into the room, fall over the shopping and hurt herself. ☐

This boy's parents have left a knife on the table. The boy might play with the knife and cut himself. ☐

Someone has put hot tea on the table. The girl might burn herself. ☐

2. Read and circle the correct answer.

6.14 Hi. My name is Caleb and I'm from Kenya. This week, I'm camping in Nyeri with my scouts group – the Sungura Scouts. In the scouts, we have lots of fun doing different things, for example, camping and playing games. We also learn about different things, and we get badges when we learn something new.

This week, we are learning about first aid from Adam, a nurse at the local hospital here. After an accident or when you are ill, it can sometimes take a long time for an ambulance to arrive or for you to see a doctor or a nurse. But people who know first aid can help you when you are waiting for a doctor or an ambulance. First aid can help to save your life, and anyone can learn to give it.

1. What is Caleb learning about this week?
   a. camping with the scouts
   b. scout badges
   c. helping people who are hurt or ill
2. What is first aid?
   a. help before a patient sees a doctor
   b. help in an ambulance
   c. help from the Sungura Scouts
3. Who can learn first aid?
   a. nurses b. doctors c. anyone

3. Read and complete the sentences.

6.15 Adam says you must give the right help when someone has had an accident. For example, when someone has a bad cut, it mustn't get dirty. A dirty cut can make the patient very ill. It is very important to wash the cut before you cover it with a bandage. When someone gets burnt, you must put cold water on the burn and try to keep it cold. When you think someone has broken a bone, tell them not to move. Phone for an ambulance or ask someone to get a doctor or a nurse.

When I go home after the camp, I am going to tell my brother and sister what I have learnt. I might hurt myself one day, so I want them to know first aid, too!

1. It is important to wash a cut before you put a bandage on it.
2. You should put _____ _____ on a burn.
3. If you have broken a bone, you should not _____.
4. Caleb wants his brother and sister to know _____ _____ so they can help him when he is hurt.

4. Talk to a friend. Then tell the class.

1. Why is it important to learn first aid?
2. What should you do when someone is badly hurt?
