5. Read. Say why Max, Sam, Bill, Sue and May couldn't train for the race. Use the words in the box.

Yesterday wasn't a very good day.

It's School Sports Day on Thursday, but we couldn't train for our race yesterday. Max couldn't run because he fell out of a tree and hurt his foot. I had a bad earache. I couldn't sleep and I couldn't train. I went to see the doctor before school, and I met Sam and May when I was there. Sam's tooth hurt. He eats lots of sweet things, for example, cakes and ice cream. He often loses his toothbrush, too, and he doesn't always clean his teeth. May had a stomach-ache because she ate a lot of cake. She was very weak and she couldn't run or play tennis. Sue was there, too. She had to see the doctor because she had an earache and a headache. Sue and I couldn't hear very well.

We all waited to see the doctor, but the doctor couldn't see us because his back hurt. We had to see the nurse.

Max/run	the doctor/see the children	Bill/sleep

3. Read the story. Strike out the wrong word. Then write the numbers to put the story in the correct order.

It was a beautiful sunny day. Kim ran happily / ~~carefully~~ outside to play in the countryside around her house. When she was near some trees by a river, she saw something. She stopped, climbed up a high rock and looked. There was a baby elephant in the trees! The baby elephant started to walk to the river. It walked quickly / carefully because the grass was wet. Kim hid behind the rock. She stood very quietly / angrily, because she didn't want the elephant to see her. 1

The baby elephant and Kim played in the waterfall. Then Kim sat on the elephant. At the end of the afternoon, Kim could ride the elephant really well / quietly. Then it was evening, and Kim's mum came to find her. 'Come home now, Kim,' she shouted loudly / carefully. And then Kim saw another, bigger elephant in the trees. It was the baby elephant's mum. Kim said goodbye to her new friend very sadly / carefully. ☐

Then the elephant saw Kim. 'Hello!' said Kim, and she waved to it. The elephant looked at her and started to walk quickly / well over the bridge. Then it stopped and waited. Kim ran over the bridge. Then she walked to the elephant and carefully / angrily put her hand on its neck. The elephant started walking again, and Kim went with it. They went behind some red rocks and then Kim saw a high waterfall. 'I didn't know this was here! It's beautiful!' said Kim badly / happily. ☐

The baby elephant walked well / slowly next to the river and stopped at a bridge. It started to drink some water from the river. It drank very loudly / sadly. Kim laughed at the noise. She laughed very quietly / slowly, but the elephant stopped drinking and listened. ☐

1. Who can you see?
2. What are they doing?

Everything was quiet in Sue's house. It was night and there was a large, white moon and lots of stars in the sky. Only one person in the house was awake.

Jill threw her blanket on the floor, jumped out of bed and went to Sue's room.

'Come on, wake up, Sue! I'm hungry. Let's go downstairs and find something to eat,' she said (1) ___loudly___.

'Shh! Talk quietly,' said Sue. 'Mum and Dad are sleeping. Don't wake them up.'

'Sorry,' said Jill more quietly. 'Please can I have something to eat, Sue?'

They opened Sue's bedroom door and went downstairs very slowly and (2) _____ because they didn't want to make any noise.

They went into the kitchen and looked in the cupboards. They (3) _____ found some of their favourite pasta and some cheese.

'I want to cook this pasta,' said Jill.

'But I can cook better than you can,' said Sue. 'OK, you cook it,' said Jill.

Sue cooked the pasta with the cheese, and the two girls ate it (4) _____. Then there was a noise outside the kitchen door.

'Oh no! Someone's coming!' said Sue. Sue moved quickly, and hid under the kitchen table. Jill moved more slowly, and when her dad walked into the kitchen, he saw her before she could hide. She sat on the floor.

'Jill!' he said (5)_____. 'What are you doing? Why aren't you in bed?'

Jill couldn't think of a good answer. 'Er ... I'm cleaning the floor!' she said.

Dad looked at her and said, 'What? At night?' He started to laugh. Then Sue laughed more loudly than Dad, and she (6) _____ stood up next to him. 'Are you cleaning the floor, too?' he asked Sue. The girls told their dad about the pasta.

He said, 'You cooked pasta? That's really naughty! You can only cook with a grown-up. Now go to bed. You can wash the plates tomorrow. And you can clean the kitchen floor, too!'

8. Now read the story on page 74 and write words in the gaps. Then listen and check your answers.

1. Answer these questions.

1. When did you learn to read?
2. Do you read slowly or quickly?
3. Why do we need to read?

2. Look at the photos. Read and circle Yes or No.

Hello. I'm Monique. I live in Coupvray, in France. About 200 years ago, Louis Braille, a famous man, lived here. When he was three years old, he had an accident and hurt his eyes. After the accident, he couldn't see. As a boy, Louis Braille loved studying, and he wanted to read books. In 1824, when he was 15 years old, Louis Braille invented an alphabet for people who can't see. You read it with your fingers. It is called braille.

1. Louis Braille is Monique's friend. Yes / (No)
2. Louis Braille is 100 years old. Yes / No
3. Louis Braille never enjoyed reading books. Yes / No
4. Louis Braille invented an alphabet when he was 50 years old. Yes / No
5. People who can't see can use Louis Braille's alphabet to read. Yes / No

3. Read and complete the sentences.

Every letter in the braille alphabet has six dots. In each letter, you can feel some of the dots. You move your finger over the dots to read them. Every letter is different. To read more quickly, some people use two fingers to feel the letters. Some words, for example, and and of, have just one braille letter. There are numbers and punctuation marks in braille, too.

Today, people use braille all round the world. There are thousands of braille books, and you can see braille on signs and on food and medicine packets. There are also braille phones, braille computer keyboards and braille computer screens.

1. Each letter in braille has six dots.
2. People read braille more quickly when they use _____ fingers.
3. The word and has just _____ braille letter.
4. Braille writing is now on packets of _____ and food, and on signs.
5. You can read braille on some computer keyboards and _____.

4. Talk to a friend. Then tell the class.

1. Where can you see braille in your school and in your town/city?
2. Would you like to invent something? What?
3. Do you know the story of any other invention? Tell the story.

2. What would Assefa like to be?
3. What do people have to do in the World Memory Championships?
4. Where is the World Memory Championships competition every year?

2. Read and circle a or b.

10.10 Memory champions have lots of ways to remember things. To remember a name, they find something about the person that helps them think of the person's name. For example, they meet Richard who has red hair, and they can remember the 'R' for 'Red Richard'.

Here are ways to remember new words.

- Draw pictures to remember words.
- Remember words in sentences about people or things that you know. To remember 'tall', think of someone who is tall. Then you can remember 'Paul is tall.'
- Say, read and write a word again and again. Do it again in an hour, tomorrow, and next week.

1. Richard is _____
   a. a memory champion
   b. an example of a name to remember
2. In this text, _____
   a. there are three ideas that help us remember new words
   b. we learn about three memory champions
3. The text tells us we can remember words by _____ pictures.
   a. seeing b. drawing
4. The text tells us we need to _____ words to learn them.
   a. repeat b. hear

3. Talk to a friend. Then tell the class.

1. What are you good at remembering?
2. What things do you think are hard to remember?
3. How do you remember things? Do you use any of Assefa's ways? Do you have your own ways?

To	John
From	Sam

Dear John,

Tomorrow my school holidays start. I am very, very happy! This afternoon we (1) ~~have~~ / had a party in our English lesson. We all sang the songs that we learnt in our English lessons very (2) loudly / loud and we had some cake. It was fun!

In the school holidays, I want to (3) doing / do lots of things. For example, I want to go (4) swim / swimming every morning. My friend Bill swims really well, and I want to swim (5) better / best than him! I want to see the new film Monsters of the Lake this week, too. I couldn't go and see it last week (6) but / because I had a lot of homework. My uncle wants to see the film with me. He's the uncle (7) which / who works in Bear Forest. He loves (8) watching / watch films about monsters, and he says he can take me to the cinema one day this week.

Have you got the new video game (9) that / what you wanted? I got a new game last week (10) which / who is called The Lions of Blue Mountain. I don't like it – it's really boring. When does your school holiday start? You must come and visit me!
